'That Guy's Dying' Ruby In Hospital From Pneumonia

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, the stubby strip-joint boss who killed Lee Harvey Oswald, was taken to Parkland Hospital late Friday with an illness described as a serious case of pneumonia.

"That guy's dying," said Ruby's sister, Eva Grant. The jail doctor said Ruby had a "throat-tickling kind of cough" — and no fever. The hospital said the admission diagnosis was pneumonia and listed Ruby's condition as serious.

Except for defense claims that he was mentally sick, it was Ruby's first reported illness since he shot down Oswald, later named by the Warren Commission, as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Sheriff Bill Decker said he ordered Ruby transferred to the hospital on the advice of Dr. J.M. Pickard, county health officer, after routinely visiting Ruby's cell for the first time in 10 days.

Hospitalized by Pneumonia

DAILY VISITS

Dr. John W. Callahan, Pickard's assistant, said he had been seeing Ruby daily for two weeks because of a cold.

"I examined him at 10 a.m. today," he said, "and his cold seemed to be subsiding. I thought he was improving. I was surprised to hear tonight that he had gone to the hospital."

Callahan said, "The sheriff can act any time he wants in a case like this."

Mrs. Grant visited Ruby in his hospital room and then told a reporter: "I'm not leaving. I'll be here all night. I don't even think he's dying."

She said she saw Ruby earlier Friday and he looked "terrible, like a corpse. For three weeks, he's been deathly sick."

Decker said he decided to drop in on Ruby on Friday and: "Jack said he had a bad cold and wasn't feeling up to par. I talked to Dr. Pickard and he suggested Jack should be taken to the hospital where he could be X-rayed, examined and tests made."

Callahan, who has been practicing medicine for 15 years, said he had been giving Ruby cough medicine and, for the past three days, antibiotics.

Ruby shot Oswald in the basement of the Dallas City Jail on Nov. 24, 1963, two days after President Kennedy was assassinated.

After he was convicted of murder in February 1964, and given the death sentence for killing Oswald, Ruby's attorneys said he had attempted suicide—once by banging his head against a wall and once by sticking his finger in a light socket.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said the defense claims were a play for sympathy.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for Ruby recently, and last week Judge Louis Holland set the second trial for Wichita Falls, probably in February.

In court appearances after the assassination and during his murder trial, Ruby's usually ruddy complexion was waxy and he had lost weight. But in court since then he seemed to have regained his plump figure.

Parkland, the city-county hospital where both President Kennedy and Oswald died, issued this statement:

"Jack Ruby was admitted to Parkland Hospital at 5:15 this afternoon. His condition was listed as serious. The admitting diagnosis was pneumonia."

"The next statement on his condition will be at 9 a.m. CST tomorrow."

LBJ Returns To Capitol From Texas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson returned to the White House Friday for the first time since his operations last month, looking well rested and ready to tackle preparations for the coming session of Congress.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Washington by plane from Texas where he spent a 20-day recuperative stay at his ranch. The Chief Executive looked tan and recovered from the double surgery for removal of a polyp from his throat and repair of an abdominal hernia.

Johnson is scheduled to devote his time in the coming days to making final decisions on the budget he will submit to the new Congress in January and the new legislative program he will propose.

The White House also announced before he left Texas that Johnson would give "sympathetic consideration" to the appeal of Pope Paul VI that the holiday truce in Viet Nam be extended to see if peace efforts might prevail.

Two Blasts Rock Dump By Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two explosions rocked a U. S. Army ammunition dump 13 miles northeast of Saigon early today and touched off a three-hour fire as the Viet Cong continued a stepped-up drive in the capital's outlying areas.

At the same time, U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam swelled to 363,700 as a contingent of 1,700 GIs arrived at the port city of Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They were the leading elements of the newly formed 199th Light Infantry Brigade.

The ammunition dump explosions were at Long Binh, the target of enemy attacks Oct. 28 and Nov. 18. U.S. spokesmen said casualties and damage at the installation were light.

UNDER FIRE

The explosions came about 20 minutes apart. Guards in the area reported coming under small arms fire just before the first explosion.

The incident appeared to be part of a Viet Cong plan increasing guerrilla and terror attacks to hamper U.S. troops carrying out a major campaign to clear the enemy from areas surrounding Saigon.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. warplanes attacked bridges and communications lines Friday. Low clouds hampered visibility and there was no assessment of damage, U.S. spokesmen said.

In South Viet Nam no major ground fighting was reported, but in the air war Guam-based Stratoforters again hit suspected enemy troops concentrations 32 miles northwest of Saigon early Saturday. The B52 jet bombers had pounded the target Friday.

A second predawn B52 raid rained bombs on a suspected troop concentration Saturday in the central highlands about 240 miles north of Saigon.

Kilfe fire by alert militiamen in Saigon on Friday night exploded a Viet Cong mine as it floated toward a key bridge on the Saigon River. The blast rattled windows in the heart of the city where Secretary of State Dean Rusk was a weekend visitor.

U.S. troops conveying about three dozen trucks laden with ammunition and other explosives were near the bridge, the Binh Loi railroad and highway span two miles north of Saigon. The convoy suffered no damage and went on its way after the blast.

The big mine, camouflaged by a cluster of weeds, was about 400 yards upstream when one of the Vietnamese militiamen guarding the bridge spotted it and opened fire.

Distant explosions had marked the day as waves of B52 jets, each packing 27 tons of bombs, hammered at three Communist positions. Targets were enemy entrenchments 30 miles northwest of Saigon, a Viet Cong trail 85 miles northeast of the capital and a suspected Communist headquarters 20 miles west of Hue, in the north.

The U.S. Command disclosed three Air Force planes and two pilots were lost in air operations Thursday.

Communist ground gunners shot down an F105 Thunderchief, flying in one of a series of 75 bombing missions against North Viet Nam. The pilot is listed as missing. The plane was the 439th announced as downed in the north.

McKeithen Blasts LBJ's Road Slash

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen said Friday President Johnson's slash of essential highway construction funds was "a tragic mistake" that would cause years of delays.

He told Johnson in a telegram the move was an admission of weakness to Communist North Viet Nam. The communists would deduce that the United States, too, was being hurt at home and may withdraw, he said.

In his news conference, McKeithen said his telegram suggested that the poverty program be cut to help check the inflationary spiral and release funds for the war.

He said the Social Security program and the poverty program may be 90 per cent waste. "It is a shame," McKeithen said, "that money is not turned into highway construction."

As to state highway funds, McKeithen said, "we are going to have to have some more money" but he doubted any tax measure could be considered in the May legislature when lawmakers would be seeking reelection.

On other matters, McKeithen said his information indicated a fine job still was being done in administration of the state penitentiary at Angola.

Rep. Rod Miller, Lafayette Republican, criticized practices at the prison. Charges made by Miller have been answered, he said.

McKeithen said his administration would be glad to take a new look at the code of ethics for state officials and employees in effort to improve it.

The governor told a reporter he would help get a satisfactory answer from the State Sovereignty Commission on why some $30,000 in surplus funds was not transferred to the treasury as required at the end last fiscal year.

The governor said he assumed Atty. Gen. Jack Gremling would present a federal court the legislative reapportionment plans signed into law this week.

A three-judge panel had given Louisiana until Jan. 1 to reapportion along population guidelines it set down.

McKeithen said the location of a large cache of marijuana here and arrests of LSU students and former students on narcotics charges were "startling and frightening."

Brown made plain that Britain would oppose any oil embargo that would cause complications for South Africa, a major source of British trade. He noted that steps taken by Britain had been costly to its economy.

But the foreign minister of Zambia said his country's economy had fared much worse in comparison because of British policy toward Rhodesia. He expressed belief that use of military force was still the best way to bring down the rebel regime.

"Let us be realistic," Kapwepwe said. "Sanctions are not going to work without the active participation of South Africa, which Britain has chosen to protect."

He said Zambia was prepared to go all the way in seeking a halt to oil shipments that Africans contend go by land route from South Africa to Rhodesia, and by pipeline from Portuguese Mozambique.

The Syrian government Thursday announced it would prohibit IPC from exporting any of the oil pumped along the 305 mile pipeline from Iraq until it meets Syrian demands for increased royalties.

IPC charged that the 70 cents to $1.40 per ton demanded by Syria for pumping and exporting the oil would make Iraqi oil uncompetitive on world markets.

On Friday IPC sought clarification from the Syrian ban on exports. When no reply was received by afternoon, the company turned down the valves on the pipeline.

Experts said that if the action had not been taken, the pipeline that carries 40 million tons of crude annually across Syria for loading onto tankers at Banias would overflow the terminal storage tanks today.

Zambians Want UN Oil Embargo Upon Rhodesians

Seek Cut At Portugal, South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Zambia led off the African drive Friday in the U.N. Security Council for an oil embargo against Rhodesia that would demand an end to shipments from South Africa and Portugal, the main suppliers.

In a fiery speech, Simon M. Kapwepwe, the Zambian foreign minister, denounced Britain as racist, two-faced and hypocritical in its attempts to crush the white minority regime in Salisbury next door to his central African country.

He charged that the Labor government in Britain was providing fuel for a racial war in southern Africa and added: "When racial troubles come, the British government must be responsible for the atrocities some see ahead of us."

Kapwepwe drew an immediate reply from George Brown, the British foreign secretary, who called on the council Thursday to invoke selective mandatory economic penalties and an arms embargo against Rhodesia.

OBVIOUS ANGER

Speaking in obvious anger and in a voice trembling with emotion, Brown declared that the charges of "false motives, hypocrisy and racism have shocked me." He said they call "for immediate, firm and frank rejection as both unworthy and untrue."

"Abuse is no substitute for constructive criticism," he added. He said the primary aim of Britain was to get rid of the rebel regime.

Brown said he wanted to reply to the charges and speak briefly once more before his departure Friday night for London made necessary by a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris next week.

He reiterated his plea for adoption of mandatory economic sanctions, and the British offer to accept a limited oil embargo.

But it was plain from Kapwepwe's speech and comments from Africans outside the council chamber that they would press for a more comprehensive oil embargo despite word from South Africa and Portugal that they would not comply.

The Africans were expected to bring in amendments to the British resolution spelling out just what kind of an embargo they want when the council resumes its debate on Monday.

Brown made plain that Britain would oppose any oil embargo that would cause complications for South Africa, a major source of British trade. He noted that steps taken by Britain had been costly to its economy.

But the foreign minister of Zambia said his country's economy had fared much worse in comparison because of British policy toward Rhodesia. He expressed belief that use of military force was still the best way to bring down the rebel regime.

"Let us be realistic," Kapwepwe said. "Sanctions are not going to work without the active participation of South Africa, which Britain has chosen to protect."

He said Zambia was prepared to go all the way in seeking a halt to oil shipments that Africans contend go by land route from South Africa to Rhodesia, and by pipeline from Portuguese Mozambique.

Red German Family Slips Past Barriers

BERLIN (AP) — Under gunfire and a probing searchlight, an East German couple and their three children fled into West Berlin on Friday in a dawn dash across Communist border barriers.

They climbed and crawled past three barbed wire fences, leaving bits of clothing whipping in the wind. Included was a pair of men's suspenders.

Their dash led them across a 500-foot cleared "death strip." of the escape, said the man and the woman, each 37, their two daughters, aged 7 and 10, and an 18-year-old son, were not hit by the gunfire. But were scratched by the rusted barbed wire that tore at their bodies as they scrambled through. They were treated for wounds in a hospital, then turned over to U.S. authorities in a refugee center. The five had fled into the American sector of the city.

BUTCHER'S FATHER

The father, a butcher, was quoted by West Berlin officers as saying: "We had no plan for the escape. We just marched off and hoped that it would somehow succeed. And it did succeed."

The senior border officer expressed doubt the Eastern border guards really aimed their fire at the fleeing people.

He gave this account of the final dash: The family set off the alarm signals when they broke through an initial fence, coming out of a woods 50 yards from the guards' bunker. Further on, using their bodies, their hands apparently wrapped with cloth, the family bent and doubled over barbed wire so that passage was possible through two of the fences. They crawled under the third.

LUCKY

They were in luck that a West Berlin border patrolman happened on the scene and helped them across. What belongings they brought with them, they threw across the fences.

The border official said the woman suffered the worst injuries, being slashed about the legs. She lost her handbag, containing the family's personal papers, in the final dash. It was retrieved by East German guards.

LOSES SUSPENDERS, Gains Freedom

As they started across, they get off noise signals, and red and white flares popped overhead.

East German border guards began firing from a watchtower about 200 yards away and turned on a searchlight. Other guards fired submachine guns from a bunker.

Some Children May Find There's No Santa Claus

"This is the first time I have written for help," the letter to Goodfellows read. "I have no other choice unless I tell my three children there is no Santa Clause."

"If you could give the children warm coats, it would be very much appreciated," the distraught mother wrote, compelled by ill health, no money and three disadvantaged children.

This family may be helped by Goodfellows this year, but many who need so much won't be because many Twin Cities residents have not thought of others at Christmas time.

Today, Goodfellows has a total of only $2,067.50 in contributions, far short of this year's goal of a mere $7,000 that — even if reached — will have to be spread among so many needy.

If Goodfellows fails this year, many will mark the birth of Christ in a time of despair and want. Goodfellows can only be successful if the Twin Cities are generous to those less fortunate.

Tito Heir Bugs Home Of Leader

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito's office and home once were bugged and his then heir apparent, Alexander Rankovic, listened in on his conversations, Parliament was told Friday. Later in the day, however, Tito issued a decree dropping all criminal proceedings against Rankovic's group.

A report by the federal prosecutor said Rankovic, ousted as vice president and member of the Communist party last July, also tapped the lines of Premier Petar Stambolic and other high officials.

Once a tape recorder was established in a room where the former Politburo held a meeting that was so secret no one present was allowed even to take notes. The tape was handed over to Rankovic, the report added.

The prosecution was listing abuses of the secret police when they were under the control of Rankovic. It said investigations are being made of 16 high former secret police officials and technicians.

Among those listed were Vojin Lukic, former minister of interior, and Zivotic Srba Savic, former minister of interior in the Serbian Republic.

The report suggested Rankovic and his group should not be criminally prosecuted for humanitarian reasons and because of past services. Parliament voted agreement.

Named as joining in the order for electronic monitoring of Tito's home and office was Svetislav Stefanovic, former minister of interior who was kicked out of the party along with Rankovic in a stormy session July 4 of the Communist party Central Committee.

Nevertheless, Tito signed a decree of amnesty quashing all proceedings against the 16 secret police officials. Lukic and Savic were reliably reported to have been arrested. If so, they now will be freed.

The report accused the secret police of trying to control the government and the party, of interfering in all fields of activity, of infiltrating the Foreign Ministry and trying "to link to itself certain army peoples."

Other floats in the Yule procession included "What Have You Given" sponsored by the Brownville Baptist Church, "Annunciation by the Angel to the Shepherds of the Birth of Christ" by McGuire Methodist Church, "Let Christ INN Your Christmas" by First Methodist Church and "The Little Drummer Boy" by Highland Presbyterian Church.

Chilling temperatures didn't stop marchers or the crowd along the twisting parade route. Estimates of crowd size ranged from 1,000 to 4,000, but all agreed that the turnout was the largest for a West Monroe parade.

In addition to the floats, high school bands, pep squads, majorettes, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, and drill teams took part in the parade, which had some 35 elements.

A Christmas parade will be held in Monroe at 10:30 a.m. today at Riverside Drive and Louisville Avenue.

Man Floats Four Days In Pacific

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A California yachtsman was plucked from the sea off Acapulco, Mexico, Friday after four or five days floating in a life ring after a ship collision, the Coast Guard reported.

A search was launched for three others aboard his yacht. A Coast Guard spokesman gave this account:

David Eugene Smith, 46, Chowchilla, Calif., was found floating in a life ring 50 miles off Acapulco by the Greek freighter Zarathustra, bound for the Panama Canal and Brooklyn, N.Y.

It took him aboard, suffering from exposure, and gave him medical treatment.

The freighter radioed the Coast Guard that Smith said his ship, the Lagosta, was in a collision four or five days ago and he had been floating since on the sea.

Names of the three others aboard were not at once learned, but one was said to be a child.

The Coast Guard said it could not get a clear version of the affair due to language difficulties. The Zarathustra was expected to drop off Smith at Panama.

A Coast Guard plane was sent to Mexican waters from San Francisco to conduct a search.

After their freshman year, the deferment continues if their grades are in the upper 50 per cent of the male students in the class or they can pass the Selective Service qualification test.

Gremillion ruled such service has no connection with crime detection and prevention.

Tasteful Burglars Take Mink Coats

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Burglars with good taste in furs were blamed Friday for theft of some $10,000 worth of furs from the Carrollton branch of the Gus Mayer Department Stores.

The thieves jimmied a lock to enter the store sometime Thursday night, and, after they got in, they broke a padlock on a cage where the best furs were kept.

Big Union Rift

UAW Ponies Up Payment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter P. Reuther's big United Auto Workers Union, in continued psychological sniping at the AFL-CIO, ponied up partial payment on its delinquent dues Friday.

A check for some $90,000 arrived in the mail at the headquarters of AFL-CIO President George Meany, with whom Reuther has been conducting a war of nerves in recent months.

Reuther's union is still almost two months in arrears, but the partial payment staved off the three-month automatic suspension date of Dec. 15 for 30 more days.

Meany, informed sources said, hadn't planned to invoke the suspension rule against the 1.5-million-member UAW, biggest of the labor federation's 129 unions.

Reuther's withholding of dues appeared to be an effort to emphasize the big financial contribution of more than $1 million a year his union makes to the AFL-CIO.

De Gaulle, Kosygin Hit U.S. Action

Paris (AP) — France and the Soviet Union warned Friday that the war in Viet Nam may spill over into neighboring countries.

They blamed the gravity of the war on "outside intervention" — an apparent reference to the United States — and said the conflict is the principal obstacle to relaxation of international tensions. But they gave no hint as to how the war could be brought to an end.

They held up growing French-Soviet cooperation as a model for the world to copy.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and French President Charles de Gaulle said this in a joint declaration marking the end of the Kremlin leader's nine-day state visit here.

The communique was remarkable for the delicate balance it maintained between French and Soviet viewpoints on European security and on world disarmament. There was little if any change in their respective positions.

Europe's most abiding problem — the reunification of Germany — was not even mentioned in the 3,000-word declaration.

Kosygin and De Gaulle raised the question of a possible European security conference where the German problem would certainly be discussed, but set no time for the meeting, saying simply, "in the future."

The statement on Viet Nam reflected the similarity of French and Soviet views on settlement of the war — that the United States must withdraw. An American diplomatic source commented: "I don't think they've broken much new ground in this communique."

Kosygin and De Gaulle said the Vietnamese war was intensifying and was causing heavy human and material losses. They also "deplored a situation whose gravity is the result of outside intervention."

"This situation endangers the neighboring states of Viet Nam and at the present time is the principal obstacle to the relaxation of international tensions and the establishment of lasting peaceful relations among numerous countries," they said.

Red Chinese Viet Muscle, Envoys Say

MOSCOW, (AP) — Red China is supplying far more military aid to North Viet Nam than is the Soviet Union, and China is getting more publicity in Hanoi for it, diplomats said Friday.

The information reaching these diplomats suggested to them that Soviet ability to influence Hanoi is limited.

There has been a widespread assumption among Moscow diplomats that Soviet aid to Hanoi was buying influence, or at least was intended to buy some.

Part of this assumption was that Soviet influence tends toward damping down hostilities or perhaps even encouraging moves toward a settlement, whereas Peking's is a more militant support for protracted conflict.

The new information indicated that prospects are dim for the Soviet Union to be able to use its aid as a lever for any effort to end the war.

This may explain, the diplomats said, the reluctance of Kremlin leaders to have meaningful discussions with Western leaders about ways of bringing peace.

New Fear Wave Grips Cincinnati As Sixth Woman Found Strangled

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Another woman—the sixth in a year—was found strangled in an apartment elevator Friday and a new wave of fear gripped Cincinnati where sale of guns and chain door locks already had shown a heavy increase.

The body of Miss Lula Kerrick, 80, was found in the elevator of a near-downtown apartment where she lived alone. Her clothing was in slight disarray but homicide detective

Sgt. Russell Jackson said she had not been sexually molested as had been the other five victims, all women 50 years old or more.

Police took a 29-year-old man into custody for questioning in the case and charged him with being a probation violator. Detective John McGlocklin said, however, the man could not be considered "a prime suspect at this time."

Police said they picked him up on the basis of a report by another woman who lives near the apartment of Miss Kerrick that a man followed her to her apartment Thursday night.

He left when another tenant opened a door. A third tenant took down the license number of the car in which he drove away. The description resembled that of a car seen near another of the stranglings.

Police said the man had declined to answer questions or take a lie detector test.

Miss Kerrick had been in the habit of attending early Mass at nearby St. Peter in Chains Cathedral. She was seen at the church at 7 a.m. Her body was found shortly after 8 a.m. by other tenants in the six-story building.

Miss Kerrick lived on the fourth floor. The body first was seen by Charles Minor when he opened the elevator door on the third floor. He said he ran to call his brother. Meanwhile, Sam Collins, who lives on the fifth floor, pushed the automatic button that took the elevator to his floor.

thought it was just a drunk and then I ran to call police."

The small, frail woman, whose niece, Anna Adams, said had been ailing, was on the floor with her knees pulled up slightly. She had been strangled with a stocking.

Collins said, "Her little black hat was over her face which is why I didn't recognize her." He said she still was wearing her glasses but that her dentures were on the elevator floor. The strangling was the sixth in the series.

Nation's 'Over-Employment'

In at least one sense of the word, the United States has an "over - employment" situation rather than an unemployment problem. In other words, there are more jobs available than there are people to fill them. In addition, there are more people working on two jobs than there are people not working at all.

This situation is good in many respects. At present, the nation is exemplifying the old-time American principle of, "anyone who really wants to work can find a job. Despite tight money and the drop in new home construction, brought on deliberately by the federal government, the American economy is so lively that the Department of Labor was able to report unemployment at only 3.7 per cent in November compared to 3.9 in October. This leaves the proposition that there is no real unemployment.

Jobs are going begging in many businesses and industries. The teaching profession is one example. Twenty states reported substantial shortages of teachers and a number of others reported some shortages.

W. E. Van Horne of Columbus, O., president of a big instrument company, observed recently that the nation is misinterpreting residual unemployment and stated that actually there is a state of "over - employment."

"In 1966," Horne said, "we have three or four per cent residual unemployment but the opportunities for workers totally without skills are very slight. The economy would have to heat up to almost warlike conditions before illiterates, not to mention chronic alcoholics or other misfits, could be absorbed into the work force."

The fact is that when we get down to the present figure of "unemployment" given by the labor department for November we are really talking about the "unemployable."

Not even war conditions would entice the 55-year-old former miner living on the dole in his decrepit Appalachian town to train himself to handle a modern job. As a matter of fact, large numbers of those on dole in such "moonshine" areas as some of the Kentucky and Tennessee mountains are merely using the dole to live on, instead of manufacturing and selling "mountain dew." Many of these "mountain men" never worked but formerly were not classed as unemployed, since they neither received nor asked a dole. This was the idea of the federal government.

One may well wonder how much the 3.7 unemployment figure exceeds the percentage of chronic alcoholics in the United States who cannot hold jobs.

By Labor Department figures, it would be possible now to reach a position of zero unemployment if those without skills would learn to fill the jobs available to them.

Finest Moon Pictures

"It is the finest picture ever obtained by man of Copernicus," said Dr. Martin J. Swetnick, Lunar Orbiter program scientist. He was discussing a picture of a 180-mile stretch of the moon known as copernicus. We agree the picture was by far the best we have ever seen of the moon surface. It seems to give some real idea of how the moon surface looks, something we have hardly seen in any other picture.

The picture was taken when the Orbiter was only 28 miles above the moon's surface. It was taken in strips which were pieced together and made into a single picture.

On it, there was no evidence of any kind of life, either animal or vegetable, although proof of the lack of such life on the moon has not been positively made.

We believe the one thing which stirs most interest and most exciting imagination on the part of human beings on earth is whether there are living beings on other planets that are the equivalent of human beings on earth. Next subject of greatest interest, of course, is how much use we will be able to make of the planets, now that our ability to land on them seems to have been proved.

Staggering the imagination is the immense size of the universe. Because of the universe's vastness and because it operates in a synchronized exactness which defies the precision of our finest clocks, most people find it difficult to believe that in a universe that is virtually endless. The earth alone is populated by thinking, comprehending beings. Despite this, we have not yet found proof that any planet is inhabited nor has any indication been made of this through landings from other planets or through intercepted messages from other planets.

If the earth alone is peopled with intelligent beings, we have this to consider:

Our earth and the moon seem enormous until we consider the solar system. The earth, which is much bigger than the moon, is only about 8,000 miles in diameter. But, in the solar system, Pluto, the farthest planet from the sun, is shown to be 3,666,000,000 miles from the sun.

So the solar system seems gigantic until we compare it with the galactic system. But the solar system becomes infinitesimal when we compare it with the 100,000 light years in length, with each light year equalling 5.8 trillion miles, attributed to the galactic system.

But the galactic system is only a speck in a part of the universe. Running it backward, the solar system is only a speck in the galactic system and the earth is only a speck in the solar system.

How and why, then, was the universe, the vastness of which is totally incomprehensible by the human mind, created?

Man, in his space explorations, is making what seems to us a mighty effort to find out the how and why, as well as whether there are other thinking beings in the universe and what use we can make of the planets. We have no proof that any other such effort has been made in the history of the universe but we do not have proof that no such effort has been made.

If each person who reads this will try to make his mind reach out and comprehend as much as possible of the universe and what it means, great numbers of minds will be reeling as they reach for understanding. Who knows but what such an effort as this will stir new thought-waves that will bring gigantic new revelations and methods of "going abroad"?

Our effort to solve a part of the mystery of the universe is puny but it may have a value that compares in vastness with the universe itself.

Comets collected as balls of cosmic debris, fused by ices of water, ammonia and methane. In effect, comets are dirty snowballs.

In the outer comet belt, the sun's gravitational pull is weak, and a comet may be jarred out of its regular orbit by a passing star.

Use Of 'Bug' Given Kennedy Okay

Proved Despite Ex-Attorney General's Denial

SENATOR ROBERT Kennedy, as Attorney General from 1961 to 1964, personally authorized in writing the use of electronic listening devices by the FBI.

Recourse to such eavesdropping equipment was approved—and even encouraged—by Kennedy soon after he took office and launched his widely fanned "all-out war" against organized crime and racketeering. In this drive, the brother of the late President marshaled the support of every important federal investigative agency.

Throughout his more than three years as head of the Justice Department, Kennedy was fully informed of the scope and effectiveness of the FBI's electronic coverage of leading gangsters and hoodlums.

Also known to Kennedy was that the Internal Revenue Service, Secret Service and other agencies were using eavesdrop-ing equipment.

YET THE MILITANT liberal New York Senator has maintained a wary and tightlipped silence in the furor over "bugging" and wiretapping. In one instance, when questioned by newsmen, he resorted to a semantic dodge to deny authorizing or knowing about such operations.

This despite the fact that the official record flatly and unequivocally contradicts him.

This indisputable evidence is detailed in the "Supplemental Memorandum" Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall filed with the Supreme Court in response to its request for additional information regarding the microphone installed in lobbyist Fred Black's hotel suite. Marshall's document states:

"Records of oral and written communications within the Department of Justice reflect concern by attorneys general and the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that the use of listening devices by agents of the government should be confined to a strictly limited category of situations.

"Under departmental practice in effect for a period of years prior to 1963, and continuing into 1965, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was given authority to approve the installation of devices such as that in question for intelligence (and not evidentiary) purposes when required in the interest of internal security or national safety, including organized crime, kidnappings and matters wherein human life might be at stake."

This official Justice Department admission covers Kennedy's entire tenure as attorney general.

TRICKY DISCLAIMER — Solicitor General Marshall submitted this revealing memorandum to the Supreme Court on May 24, 1966. A month later, June 26, in a nationally televised interview, Kennedy blandly denied Marshall's unequivocal admissions.

Kennedy apparently felt free to controvert the solicitor general by adroitly making use of a semantic opening unwittingly given him by the newsmen.

In their questions, they repeatedly used the terms "wiretaps" and "wiretapping." They were clearly unaware that there is a distinct technical difference between wiretaps and microphone - type listening devices — such as the "bug" which the FBI installed in Black's hotel room in 1963 and in the executive offices of Las Vegas' Desert Inn the year before in Kennedy's "war" against the underworld.

Few laymen know or understand this difference. Wiretaps are installed on phones or phone lines to overhear conversations. On the other hand, microphones, of the type used in the Black and Desert Inn cases, are listening devices which may be attached to a wall, hidden in furniture or otherwise concealed in a room. They are neither designed nor intended to monitor telephone conversations.

Kennedy, who as attorney general personally approved every wiretap and microphone installed by the FBI in both criminal and security investigations, was of course fully aware of this distinction.

HE USED THIS knowledge both to refuse Marshall's "confession" to the Supreme Court and to dodge the real meaning and intent of the reporters' questions.

Following are highlights of this remarkable performance: Question: "Senator, there have been recent disclosures indicating that a lot more wiretapping was done by the FBI in recent years than any of us knew about; some of it during the period when you were attorney general. Did you authorize the FBI wiretaps of gamblers' telephones in Las Vegas in '62 and '63?"

Kennedy: "No, I did not." Question: "Did you ever authorize any wiretaps as attorney general, except in national security cases?" Kennedy: "I did not." Question: "Well, as Attorney General, weren't you supposed to have supreme authority to approve any wiretaps that were made by the Justice Department?" Kennedy: "Yes."

U.N. Could Destroy

Self Over Rhodesia

BACK IN OCTOBER of 1965, Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian Smith flew to London to talk with England's Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Rhodesia was then determined to attain her independence. Smith's hope was to achieve this end peacefully, within the Commonwealth family, and he was prepared to make large concessions in the direction of ultimate majority rule in order to gain Great Britain's consent.

But Wilson, one of the world's most arrogant men, was in an especially arrogant mood that day. He sent Smith packing, and took to the radio to deliver a parting admonition:

"I know I speak for everyone in these islands, all parties, all our people, when I say to Mr. Smith: 'Prime Minister, think again.'"

If it were possible to turn that admonition around, and address it today to Harold Wilson, a vast number of Americans would say the same thing to him: "Prime Minister, think again."

BY HIS ADAMANT insistence upon having his own way, or else, in the Rhodesian crisis, Wilson has set in motion a chain of events that quite conceivably could topple the administration of Lyndon Johnson and lead to the early destruction of the United Nations. His course of action endangers the whole fabric of Anglo-American friendship. He may yet precipitate bloody war.

There are those of us who would view the replacement of Mr. Johnson with some pleasure, and would look with indifference upon the dissolution of a world body whose General Assembly has sunk into imbecility. But these and other possible consequences ought to be examined soberly before so much is risked upon a futile sacrifice intended to appease the UN's Afro-Asian bloc.

Let us be clear on what Wilson has proposed. He has demanded an absolute, mandatory boycott by all the nations of the world against 12 key Rhodesian exports, chiefly tobacco, asbestos, chrome, and meat products. If his course of action is accepted, exports of oil to Rhodesia, most certainly will be included. He is proposing nothing less than the strangulation of this small, struggling young nation. He is proposing to condemn her people to economic starvation and ruin.

This is not all. Under Article 41, which Wilson would trigger, sanctions may also be extended to "the complete or partial interruption of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio, and other means of communication." And Article 42 provides that if measures under Article 41 prove inadequate, the Security Council "may take such action by air, sea, or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security."

THIS IS THE PATH on which Harold Wilson would now lead

the United States down the first step. In the nightmare world of the United Nations, it is no longer relevant to observe that peaceful Rhodesia has not threatened the security of any nation. Ordinary words have lost their ordinary meanings in the councils of the UN.

It may be relevant, however, to inquire into the prospective enforcement of these brutal sanctions, and to look ahead to the possibility under Article 42 of military action — which is to say, to the invasion of Rhodesia in order to whip her to heel.

Plainly, a large part of the burden of enforcement would fall squarely upon the United States. Rhodesia's commerce looks to the West, not the East. Her economic survival lies within the sterling bloc. She must have pounds and dollars to live. If Wilson's folly runs to the ultimate lunacy of armed force, again a great part of the burden would fall upon the United States — not for troops, but for money, aircraft, transports, cargo vessels, and logistic support.

A prediction may be ventured here and now, that in any such showdown, the American people will repudiate this madness. For Americans, once they get aroused, will ask blunt questions: What has Rhodesia done to deserve all this? And what has Britain done for the United States to justify so large a helping hand?

RHODESIA HAS sought her independence from the British Crown precisely as the infant American colonies sought their independence in 1776. It will not escape notice that the United States, after 190 years, has not yet attained the purity of "one man, one vote" that is demanded of Rhodesia here and now. Rhodesia has managed one of the most enlightened and progressive societies of Africa, in which prodigious gains have been achieved by the natives. Rhodesia was willing to make concessions in half a dozen directions, in order to insure steady progress toward an African majority in her parliament. Rhodesia has kept the peace, tended to her own business, borne hardship bravely, and sought in every reasonable way to avert a clash of arms.

Meanwhile, what of Britain — the Britain that lends no help to the U. S. in Viet Nam, the Britain that would not suspend even the sale of buses to Communist Cuba? Is Anglo - American friendship a two - way street?

Thus far, the Rhodesia crisis has not gripped the attention of Americans, but that time will come — and it will come upon Messrs. Johnson and Goldberger like a whirlwind. The American people are not disposed to toady to the Afro-Asian bloc. They have small love for England and large love for an underdog. The 90th Congress is not without power to repudiate the President and to bankrupt the U.N. Prime Minister, think again!

Texas And New York

Seat Battle Looms

A BRUISING battle between the Texas and New York Congressional delegations is shaping up on Capitol Hill over the single Democratic vacancy on the House Ways and Means Committee expected to exist in January.

Both States have a candidate for the spot on the powerful tax - writing group whose Democratic members have the added power of assigning other House Democrats to various standing committees.

The all - Democratic Texas delegation earlier this year endorsed Representative Omar Burleson of that State to replace retiring Representative Clark Thompson of Galveston, on Ways and Means.

Retiring Representative Eugene Keogh of Brooklyn, New York, fourth ranking Democrat on the Committee, is pushing for Representative John Michael Murphy of Staten Island, to succeed him even though Murphy will only be a third term when Congress convenes on January 10.

The showdown on which States get to be represented on Ways and Means is contingent on a realignment of the committee's Democratic - Republican ratio to reflect the 47 G. O. P. House seats gain in last month's election.

DURING THE recent 89th Congress there were 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans on the Committee. It is expected this will be changed to a 15 to 10 ratio.

If it weren't for the fact a third Democrat of the Committee won't be coming back next year, there'd be no vacancy for

Special Session Grand Jury To Weigh Evidence On Suspect In Spike Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A special session of the Franklin county grand jury was called Friday to consider evidence against William R. Minor, charged in the slaying of a well-known church and civil rights leader.

Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson said the panel will meet Monday to hear details of the case against the 23-year-old itinerant charged Thursday with murder in the bludgeon death of Dr. Robert W. Spike, 43.

Dr. Spike was a ministry professor from the University of Chicago slain here Oct. 17 in an interdenominational religious center he helped dedicate the day before.

Police still pondered unanswered questions in the case even after Minor provided information they said they believed only the killer could know.

Still unexplained was the motive, although Deputy Police Chief Herman Beck said some details were being withheld as a result of U.S. Supreme Court rulings involving pretrial news coverage.

Also unexplained, Beck said, were conflicting reports about the time of Spike's death in the United Christian Center near the Ohio State University campus.

The slightly built Minor, who has a long history of arrests in addition to confinement at mental hospitals here and in California, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of first-degree murder Friday in the same Municipal Court where he pleaded guilty to church burglaries treasurer; and W. E. Huffman, secretary.

WILLIAM R. MINOR
... Jury To Investigate

Thursday. At the request of the public defender, Otto Beatty Jr., the case was continued until next Wednesday. Municipal Judge Dean Strausbaugh set no bond. Under Ohio law, a grand jury indictment must be returned unless a defendant specifically waives indictment. Police said Thursday they felt their evidence warranted the murder charge, which carries a possible death penalty.

Minor was arrested early Wednesday after he hailed a police cruiser in downtown Columbus and told officers he committed a burglary the night before.

Under questioning, Beck said, Minor implicated himself in numerous other church burglaries in Ohio and several other states and said one of his targets was the interdenominational center near Ohio State University on the night Dr. Spike was killed.

Strangling Of Husband

Widow Blames Spell For Coppolino Acts

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP)—Marjorie Farber, between fits of weeping, vividly testified Friday that, after two false starts, she helped Dr. Carl Coppolino in the 1963 smothering and strangling of her husband. She said she was hypnotized.

Mrs. Farber, at 52 still an attractive 5-foot-2 brunette, claimed she was a slave in a bizarre "love plan" conceived by Coppolino. She said she had tried herself at his direction to kill her husband, retired Army Col. William E. Farber but couldn't go through with it.

"I was another person," she said dramatically, blaming all her actions on a trance she said was induced by Coppolino's hypnotic powers.

"This terrible complex—me and that other person dominated by Carl," she testified at one point. "I was brainwashed by this man. He had a vicious hatred for my husband. I didn't."

However, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey produced a letter signed by Mrs. Farber shortly before her husband's July 1963 death. In it was a mention that Coppolino diagnosed her husband as in the throes of a heart attack and that Farber had refused to be hospitalized.

The letter released Coppolino from further responsibility in Farber's treatment and left the implication that the defendant was no longer on the scene when Farber died.

Judge Elvin R. Simmill warned Mrs. Farber that her testimony incriminated her in the slaying period. But she said she was offering it voluntarily, without any promise that she would be immune from prosecution as an accomplice. Bailey referred to her in cross-examination as a "murderess" and "killer."

An overflow crowd jostled angrily in an effort to gain entrance to the 64-seat courtroom where Coppolino's murder trial wound up its first week. It resumes Monday.

Mrs. Farber held the utter attention of all in the room as she told of her husband's death period. She said of the slaying: "I walked into the bedroom and Carl had apparently finished giving Bill an injection. He said, 'He is a hard one to kill. He's taking a long time to die.' Then he pulled a pillow out from under Bill's head and put it over him and leaned down with all his weight."

At this point, Mrs. Farber rose from the witness stand, a small figure in blue, and demonstrated the placing of the pillow and the manner in which the pressure was exerted. An autopsy report listed Farber's death as due to strangulation so severe that two cartilages in his neck were broken.

"I just stood there and looked at him," Mrs. Farber added. Then she sank back in her chair and broke down. A woman court attendant administered to her.

Coppolino, 34, an anesthesiologist and hypnotist, is on trial for his life on a first-degree murder charge. In his opening statement defense attorney F. Lee Bailey anticipated Mrs. Farber's story and told the jury: "It's a monumental and shameful demonstration that h— hath no fury like a woman scorned. She would sit in his lap in the electric chair just to see th— dies."

Bailey's first question on cross-examination of Mrs. Farber was:

"Mrs. Farber will you look at this defendant. Is it fair to say you hate the defendant?"

"No sir," she replied. "I don't have any feeling one way or the other."

The witness conceded that she was having an affair with Coppolino at the time of the slaying. Bailey wanted to know why it was necessary for Coppolino to kill Farber when he "could pretty much have you whenever he wanted you?"

"Carl is so egotistical," Mrs. Farber said, "that he doesn't want anyone to interfere in anything he wants to do. I think Carl was jealous of Bill."

Asked why she "aided and abetted" the slaying, Mrs. Farber replied: "Because of the hypnosis. I had no free will."

She testified that Coppolino first hypnotized her Feb. 4, 1963, in an attempt to help her stop smoking and that in subsequent sessions she became enamored of him. At one point, she said, she cooperated in Coppolino's "love plan" to move out of her husband's bedroom to end their marital relationship, to live with her husband as brother and sister.

Bailey wanted to know if, despite the fact there had been no recent hypnosis sessions, Mrs. Farber still was in a trance at the time of her husband's slaying. She replied: "I could say I was in a constant one, what you call a waking trance."

The Farbers were neighbors in Middletown, N.J., of Coppolino and his first wife, Carmela, 32, mother of two children. She died Aug. 28, 1965, in Sarasota, Fla., where the family had moved. Coppolino is under a first-degree murder indictment there in her death attributed by authorities to a lethal dose of anesthesia.

Less than six weeks after Carmela's death, Coppolino married a well-to-do divorcee, Mary Gibson. Thereupon, Mrs. Farber went to authorities with her story of her husband's slaying.

Coppolino looked intently at Mrs. Farber during her chilling recital. She wore a simple blue two-piece knit suit with touches of white at the neck and wrist. Her dark hair was neatly arranged.

Further back in the packed courtroom sat Mary Gibson Coppolino, who displayed no signs of emotion.

'Mobs Not Tolerated'

New Negro Rioting Tenses Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—An outbreak of rioting by young Negroes brought new racial tension to Tuskegee on Friday along with a warning from a Negro college president that "mobs cannot be tolerated."

Negro demonstrators, most of them students at Tuskegee Institute, walked and ran through the downtown streets of Tuskegee before dawn, smashing windows with bottles and rocks and, in one instance, a steel crowbar. A Confederate statue was defaced with paint and the words "black power" scrawled on its base.

They were protesting the acquittal at nearby Opelika of a white man who was charged with killing a Negro civil rights worker in Tuskegee 11 months ago.

Tuskegee Institute's president, Dr. Luther H. Foster, called a hurried meeting of students and faculty members on the campus at midmorning and warned them bluntly against any recurrence of violence.

Some of the students told police as they left a trail of broken windows earlier in the day that, "We'll be back."

But the meeting with Dr. Foster at least delayed further demonstrations.

The college president told the hundreds of students and faculty members that the school has no objection to "peaceful protests of grievances," but that it will not condone what he called "wanton physical destruction."

"It is time," Foster said, "that young people—and all of us—begin to see beyond the sensation of marches and demonstrations which had their place at times in the past. The struggle for civil rights needs more sophisticated strategies."

He put the students on notice that the college must be advised in the future of the sponsorship and plans for any off-campus protest activities.

The outbreak of violence came some nine hours after a jury of 12 white men in Opelika acquitted Marvin L. Segrest, 69, in the killing of Samuel Younge Jr.

Younge, a student at Tuskegee, was shot to death last Jan. 3 outside the service station where Segrest worked.

City officials said at least 13 businesses in the downtown section of the southeast Alabama city were damaged by thrown missiles as hundreds of the students roamed the streets for about three hours following a rally.

The "black power" slogan used by some civil rights groups was found painted on sidewalks in addition to the Confederate memorial in the city square. Officials also said that a window in a state-owned liquor store was smashed and the operator reported a case of whisky stolen.

The fatal shooting that triggered street marches by Negro students nearly one year ago broke the peaceful pattern of racial change in Tuskegee, which has elected Negro officials in city and county government. A Negro recently won election as sheriff in the county where Negro voters outnumber white voters.

Vaccination Clinics Set In Jackson

JONESBORO (Special) Jackson Parish Sanitarian Frank Sylvest said Friday that vaccination clinic for dogs are planned tentatively for next week as a precaution against rabies, currently described as in epidemic stage in the parish.

Sylvest said that the parish's lone veterinarian had been unable until now to participate in the clinics.

Also Friday, Sylvest said the parish did not have eight cases of fox rabies, as reported from Monroe Regional Laboratory.

"Four were from Bienville Parish," Sylvest said, "but they were so close I brought them into the laboratory" and they were recorded in Jackson Parish.

Man Handed Life Term For Murders

A West Monroe man was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday in Fourth District Court for the 1958 murders of two women. Emmett Jackson, 32, of 1005 Bennie Breeze St., West Monroe, had been in East Louisiana State Hospital in Jackson since July 1958.

Returned to Monroe earlier this year for trial, an attorney was appointed by the court on March 28 to act as his counsel.

Jackson, a Negro, was found guilty and a motion for a new trial was denied by Judge Jesse Heard. Both of the victims were Negroes.

In District Court action Thursday, John A. Carter, 39, Rt. 4, Box 438, West Monroe was acquitted of a charge of simple arson.

The annual Christmas party for members of L. B. Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion Club, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 17 at the Legion Home.

Letter Flow

Zooming Here

The flow of letters at the Monroe Post Office has zoomed this past week as the Christmas flood of mail began in earnest, according to Woodrow W. Hathorn, postmaster.

Tuesday, 50,000 more letters were handled than the same day last year, Wednesday 26,000 and Thursday 28,000 more.

Hathorn asked that mailing be done as soon as possible.

Back Bond Issue

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — The Rapides Fair Association Friday officially endorsed proposal of a $650,000 bond issue to finance additions to the one year old Rapides Colosseum.

The Rapides Police Jury had called the bond issue election for January 10. Among the additions planned at the colosseum is an $200,000 exhibit building for agriculture, commercial and industrial displays.

The association also elected new officers at the meeting. The president was W. W. Carter of Lecomte, Charles Gaienne of Lecomte vice president, and Margie Williams of Alexandria secretary.

Anniversary

Jim Williams, manager of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, was spreading the word Friday that he was enjoying his 33rd anniversary. Chamber guests were curious at his marrying at such a young age. Mrs. Rae Landrum, chamber secretary, was ill and could not be reached for clarifying testimony. The truth finally came out however. Williams was celebrating his 33rd "anniversary" of his resolution last month to quit smoking.

Finals Of N-S-- World Set Tonight

Neville Plays Ouachita

In Title Game At 8:00

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

and BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

Ouachita took wins from Collinston, 80-64, and Calhoun, 52-34, while Neville was nosing Caldwell, 47-46, in semi-final bouts Friday to assure an all-Monroe finale — and a jam-packed house — tonight in the 6th annual News-Star World Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The championship contest at Neville's gymnasium gets underway at 8 p.m., following the third place contest matching Caldwell and Calhoun at 6:30. It marks the third time Ouachita has reached the finals of the tournament, and second time against Neville, although it has never won. For Neville it will be the fourth championship game appearance in the N-S — W affair, and a victory would mean the fourth such title.

Neville's tourney crowns came in 1961, 1963 and 1964. Last year a champion was not declared as two nights of doubleheaders were held instead. Ouachita will be the most battle weary tonight, although that's not expected to be a factor. The Lions advanced by defeating Simsboro, 72-69, Thursday before coming back with a pair of second round triumphs.

The Tigers, meanwhile, won single games both Thursday and Friday. Neville toppled Holly Ridge, 61-51, in the meet's opening contest before disposing of an excellent Caldwell club.

Before losing Friday Caldwell had romped by Bastrop, 80-57, Thursday and Calhoun had KO'd West Monroe, 55-50.

OUACHITA-COLLINSTON

The Monroe Lions took control of things in the third frame, then got red hot in the final quarter, scoring 26 points, to rout class C Collinston 80-64 in Friday's afternoon bout.

It was only the second loss of the year for Coach Jerry Adkins. The Cougars who have won 11 times, including taking two tournament titles. The other loss was also to a triple-A club, Bastrop, in the Rams' Tourney last week.

At first it looked like the Cougars were going to give Ouachita its second straight down to the wire battle during the meet. After the Lions moved out to a 11-5 first period lead on a seven point spree by Mark Leath, the Cougars came back to narrow the gap to a single point, 18-17, by the end of the quarter.

Collinston was able to close the gap by using the same weapon Simsboro used effectively Thursday — the zone press. Down 16-9 with less than three minutes left in the opening quarter, the Cougars forced Ouachita into two straight passing mistakes and closed the gap to 16-15 with two minutes left.

Both teams went cold here, and Collinston finally went in front briefly, 17-16, with 23 seconds left only to fall behind again, 18-17, with :09 remaining when Phil Hill popped in a jumper.

The Cougars stayed in contention all the second period, leading once 29-27 with three minutes left before the Lions scored six straight points in the last 90 seconds to carry a 35-31 lead into intermission.

Actually the Lions' halftime lead was far from the most important development of the first two periods. Rather, it was that Collinston's jumping jack David Pipes had drawn his fourth foul late in the second period.

Collinston started the second half without him and quickly fell 10 points behind before it could get on the scoreboard again — after he came back into the game.

Even with Pipes in, he was not very effective on the boards for the remainder of the game and Collinston was never able to cut the gap to less than eight points.

Ouachita made it look easy from there on out as Mike Caldwell, Mark Nelson and Van Pardue bombed the nets at a steady clip. Calloway, playing one of his best games of the year, finished with 22 points while Nelson added 17 and Pardue 14. Leath, the early spark-plug, netted 11.

With Ouachita doing a good job of keeping Pipes well covered before he got the ball, the Cougars had to rely on outside Mike Creach.

Pipes finished with 13 points, although he had only three field goals, while Jeff McCain popped in 12 points and Joe Crenshaw 10.

NEVILLE-CALDWELL

Senior guard Petey Smith shot Neville into a five point first quarter lead by drilling home 10 points, and the Tigers were able to stave off a desperate last period rally by Caldwell for a 47-46 victory in the first game Friday night.

This was the narrowest escape Benny Hollis' Tigers have had among their nine victories and it was administered by a double-A club that looms as a strong playoff possibility by the time the season draws to a close.

It was the first loss of the year for Harold Waldrop's Spartans and leaves them with the identical record as Neville, 9-1.

With Petey driving and hitting from outside, Neville moved out front 17-12 by the end of the first quarter. And the second quarter was nothing more than a repeat of the first.

Harry Smith scored half of Neville's 12 second period points while all five Spartan starters chipped in goals — Larry Nelson got two — and the score at halftime was still five points different, Neville 29 to 24.

Early in the third frame Caldwell moved to within three points, 31-28, on successive goals by Billy Hogg and Danny Hodges but Neville suddenly hit a hot streak and ran to a 37-30 gap.

The period ended 41-35 and it appeared there was little hope for the Columbia visitors.

However, Neville cooled off in the last eight minutes — thanks largely to a fine defensive effort by Caldwell — and the Spartans outscored the Tigers by five points.

Hodges, Caldwell's talented 6-4 junior center, fouled out with four minutes left in the game and when the man he fouled, Bob Smith, made good on his free shot Neville went in front 45-41.

Hogg added a free toss at 3:15, narrowing things to 45-42 and at this point Neville began its stall offense in earnest. The ironic thing was that it actually failed as the Tigers threw the ball away on a couple of occasions which could have spelled defeat.

But Caldwell, also, failed to come through with its golden opportunities and the three point gap was as close as the Spartans could get in the final two minutes until Duane Wilkes scored with three seconds left.

Neville simply had to hold the ball out of bounds while the clock ran out.

Petey's 16 points were high for Neville while Harry Smith had 14 and Bob Smith chipped in 12.

Nelson, who had 25 points Thursday against Bastrop, again led Caldwell with 16 points while Hodges netted 12 and Wilkes 10. It appeared Neville's strategy on defense was for the off-side man to sag back in front of Hodges and either it worked brilliantly or Caldwell was content to go with an "outside" offense.

In other words, it seemed the Spartans would have been much more effective if they had fed the big man more often.

OUACHITA-CALHOUN

The Lions had little trouble in taking their second win of the day, opening up a wide margin in the first frame, increasing it in the second, and coasting through the second half.

With the scoring divided between the five starters in the opening quarter, Ouachita was never behind in the contest, jumping off to a 4-0 lead before the Chieftians could get on the scoreboard.

The Lions' height was the main factor in the early going, and Ouachita gradually built up a 14-point lead during the first quarter before having it cut to 12, 18-6 at the end of the frame. With the Lions three big men, Mark Nelson, Mark Leath and Mike Calloway, Ouachita increased the lead to 21 points during the second period and at one time, with 2:09 left before half, opened up a 23 point margin, 23-9. Ouachita led 34-13 at halftime.

The teams played on even terms in the third quarter, both hitting for 11 points, but the Lions had at one time gone in front by 24 points, that with 1:24 to go in the period. James Spillers scored three points for Calhoun in the last minute to cut it back to 21, 45-24, at the end of the frame.

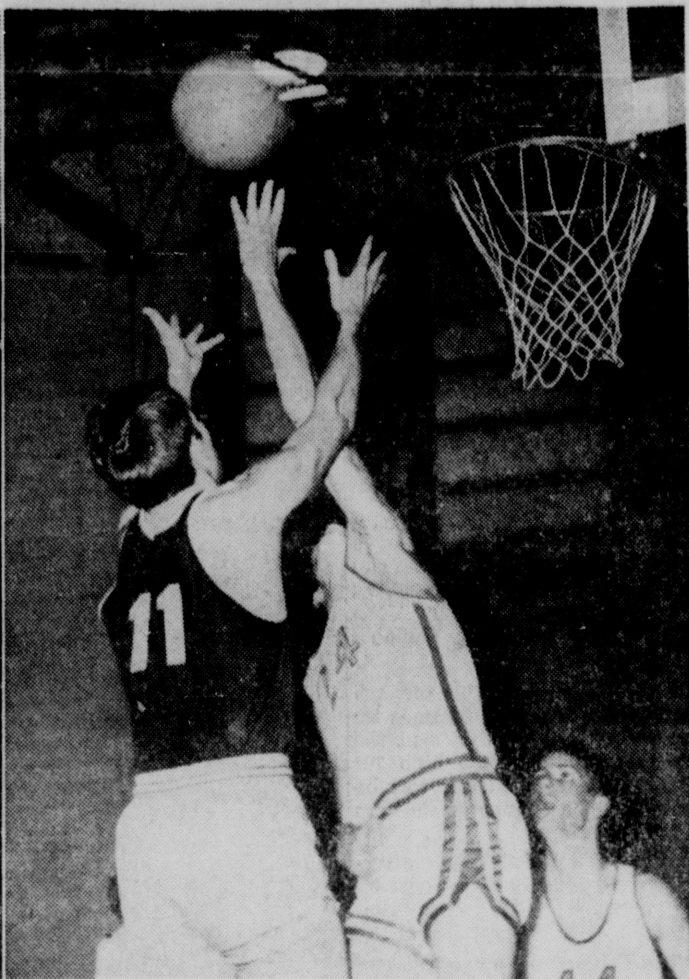

With mostly reserves in during the last quarter, the Lions scored only seven points while Calhoun was hitting for 10 to cut the final margin to 18 points.

Van Pardue led the Lions scoring attack with 11 points. Spillers and Jerry Lewis each netted 11 to pace the Calhoun quint. Lewis scored nine of his total in the first half.

Miami Hurricanes Favored To Top Gobblers In Liberty

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Miami Hurricanes, ranked ninth nationally and conqueror of three Bowl-bound football powers, are favored to whip Virginia Tech's high-scoring Gobblers in the eighth annual Liberty Bowl at Memphis Saturday.

The clash of the two major college powers highlights a seven-game program for the day, six of them encounters matching outstanding small college teams.

Miami, 7-2-1, and Virginia Tech, 8-1-1, will be seen by a national television (ABC) audience. Starting time is 12 noon. San Diego State, 10-0-0, the No. 1 small college team in the nation, takes on third-ranking Montana State, 8-2, in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

Panther Victory
LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Gary Murray pumped in 15 points to aid Lake Providence in a tight, 42-41 victory over Kilbourne here Friday night.

Kilbourne took the girls game, 60-51 with Cockrell hitting 29 for the winners and Dawn Murray 32 for the losers.

Billy Boyte led the Kilbourne boys with 11 points.

Neville Girls Roll

OAK GROVE (Special) — Neville's girls won two games here Friday night, topping the Oak Grove frosh 29-27 in overtime and winning the varsity bout 44-40.

Debbie Daniel led the Neville frosh with 15 points and Monica Bonner had 14 for Oak Grove. Mosie Woodburn fired in 22 for the Neville varsity team while Martha Smith and Sandra Johnson got 17 for the losers.

UCLA Topples

Duke's Quintet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tenacious defense and a second-half offensive rampage led by guard Mike Warren's 15 points took top-ranked UCLA to a convincing 88-54 college basketball victory over eighth-ranked Duke Friday night.

Warren combined with 7-foot-1 Lew Alcindor and Lucius Allen to break down the Blue Devil defense and score almost at will in the second half after holding a 40-27 lead at the break.

Alcindor scored 19, far below the 56 he poured in against Southern California last Saturday night.

Jack Clayton To Quit Job

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Sports Editor Bill McIntyre of The Shreveport Times said late Friday night that Jack Clayton, who guided Northwestern State College to a perfect football season and the Gulf States Conference title this fall, is quitting as head coach.

McIntyre, in a story for the Saturday of The Times said Glenn Gossett, now as assistant coach at Southern Methodist, would replace Clayton.

Clayton had been under fire from some when the season started but it was generally believed that his 9-0 record removed the pressure.

McIntyre wrote that Clayton's termination as head coach and Gossett's hiring will be announced today at a State Board of Education meeting in Baton Rouge.

Clayton will continue at NSC at athletic director, McIntyre said.

ACC Tries To Regain Its Order

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The Atlantic Coast Conference moved to restore order to its troubled house Friday by agreeing that all league basketball games involving the University of South Carolina this season may be moved to neutral courts if mutually desired.

The action followed an apology to the conference Thursday by South Carolina President Thomas Jones for statements made by basketball Coach Frank McGuire regarding the ineligibility of his sophomore star, Mike Grosso.

Dr. Ralph Fadam of North Carolina State, conference president, recessed Friday's meeting for 30 minutes to confer with faculty chairmen of member schools.

When the meeting resumed Fadam said the action was taken "because of the climate created by events of the past several months." He said the conference was "conscious of the fact that basketball games can create an explosive situation."

The ruling allows any school that "considers it inadvisable" for its basketball team to play at South Carolina to reschedule the game on a neutral court. Should this not be possible, the game would be cancelled by mutual consent.

South Carolina was granted the identical option regarding games it has scheduled for other conference courts.

Tribe Gridders Record

School's Highest Rating

The school's highest national ranking and high statistical ratings are among the post-season honors received by the 1966

Northeast State football team this year.

Northeast ended its grid season as the No. 9 team nationally in the Dunkel small college ratings. In Dunkel's combined list of major and small college elevens, the Indians ranked 105th out of 240 teams, ahead of several major schools.

Coach Dixie White's team finished the season with a 7-3 record and closed fast, sweeping its last four games.

Northeast also ranked high statistically. The team wound up among the top 30 teams nationally in both rushing offense and total defense and led the Gulf States Conference in rushing offense and rushing defense, finishing second in total defense.

The Indians averaged 221.8 yards a game in rushing offense and allowed its 10 foes an average of only 201.7 yards a game in total offense and 103.0 yards in rushing offense.

One Northeast player was ranked nationally in individual statistics — Clark Blake ranking 12th in scoring by kicking alone with 43 points, according to National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) statistics. Blake was second in Gulf States Conference scoring.

Indian halfback Alton Thomas was the GSC's rushing leader with an average of 5.5 yards per carry and also led the loop in touchdowns with seven.

Northeast's seven victories included the college's first triumph over a major college team — a conference co-champion at that. The Indians took a 21-14 victory over East Carolina, which shared the Southern Conference championship with William & Mary. In that game at Greenville, N.C., Northeast also played before its largest crowd in history — according to available records — a gathering of 14,107 fans.

Six Northeast players have received all-star recognition so far. End Charles Rohrer, tackle Ronnie Sumter and guard Greg Jubert were named to the all-GSC defensive team selected by conference coaches and tackle James Kirkendall, center Vic Bender and fullback Bobby Scafidel were named to the offensive team.

Jubert, Sumter, Scafidel and Bender were four of the six unanimous choices on the all-GSC team.

Bender was also a honorable mention pick on the Associated Press Little All-America team.

Green Bay Packers Favored To Nail Down Western Title

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, sniffing the sweet aroma of a potential $23,000 payday, are favored to clinch the National Football League's Western Conference title for the fifth time in eight years of Vince Lombardi rule Saturday by beating or tying the Baltimore Colts.

If the Packers knock off the Colts for the fifth straight time and move into a National Football League title game with the Eastern winner, the winning pot should be about $8,000 each. The league champ then goes into the Super Bowl against the American League champs with the winners already guaranteed $15,000.

All other NFL action is scheduled for Sunday with Chicago at San Francisco, Cleveland at Philadelphia, Minnesota at Detroit, Pittsburgh at New York, St. Louis at Atlanta and Washington at Dallas, Los Angeles has a bye.

In the American League, New York is at San Diego, Denver at Oakland, Boston at Houston and Kansas City at Miami with Buffalo idle.

Baltimore is in a desperate position, two games back with two to play. They must beat the Packers and San Francisco while trusting to the Los Angeles Rams to take care of Green Bay next week.

Colt fans, all 60,238 of them in the 22nd straight Memorial Stadium sellout, will be pulling for another miracle by John Unitas who has been troubled by a sore shoulder.

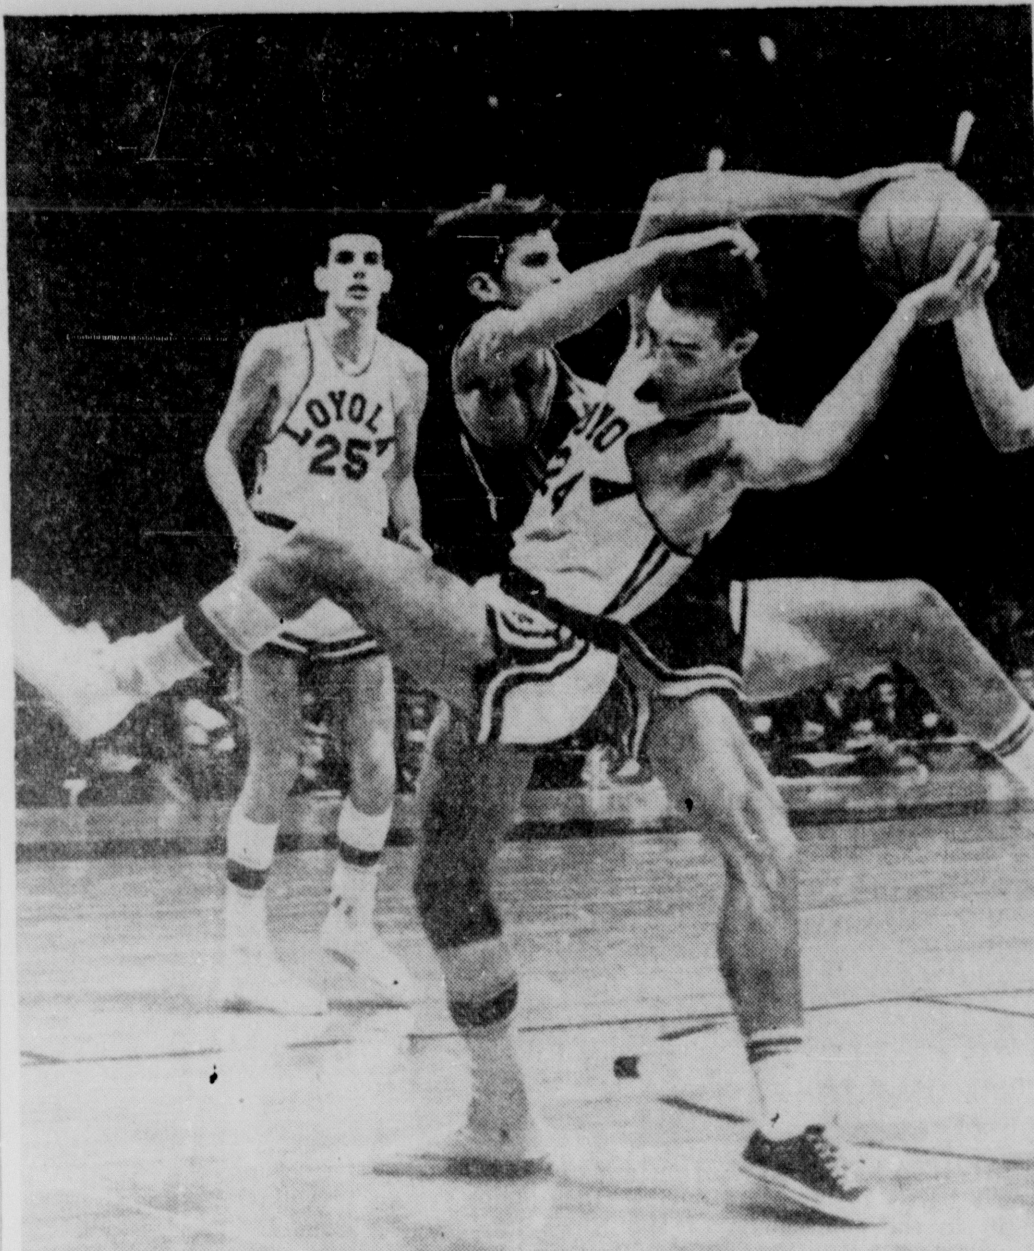

Warm sunshine cut through an early morning haze with summery weather that sent the temperatures into the high 70s Friday. They predict it will be warm with a chance of showers for the game.

The usual Saturday afternoon pro game will be carried on network (CBS) television starting at 2:15 p.m. CST.

The Colts want to win this one badly because they still harbor a deep resentment about the sudden death defeat at Green Bay last winter when a controversial field goal by Don Chandler tied the score. A year ago, Baltimore held a half game lead when the Packers rode into town and knocked them over 42-27 with Paul Hornung scoring five touchdowns. There is much to get even for, including the 24-3 opening game defeat in Milwaukee this year.

Although Hornung has been riding the bench as a sub for Elijah Pitts in recent weeks, the Colts will not be at all surprised to see the Golden Boy playing a good share of the game.

Jim Taylor remains the big running threat of Green Bay, which has scored 22 of its 38 touchdowns on the ground. In comparison, the Colts have only nine of 31 by running.

Packers Are Given Nod Over Colts

NEW YORK (AP) — It's that time of the season again. You know, when the pro football teams start bringing up the reserves.

And this corner is no different. With Mike Rathet on vacation, they've gone to the taxi squad for a substitute selector, who was sent down after a brief trial and had a dismal 5-6 effort in the last outing.

Rathet was 7-3-1 last week and 95-41-9 over-all.

Here's this week guesses, and we'll try to do better, Coach, honest:

NFL

Green Bay 24, Baltimore 21 — The Packers have clinched at least a tie for the Western Conference title, but need this one to avoid any possibility of a playoff, a la 1965. The Colts' only hope for a playoff is a victory in this one, and next week while the Packers lose two — an outside chance. The Colts' John Unitas has been troubled with a sore shoulder, but passed very well last week. The Packers' grind-it-out, take-charge offense has it all. The Packers won 24-3 in the season opener, and should do it again — but it'll be much, much tougher. It's the only Saturday afternoon game on the schedule. All the rest are Sunday.

Dallas 28, Washington 17 — The Cowboys' whirlwind offense and solid defense should be enough to get them past the improving Redskins. Dallas needs it to clinch at least a tie for the Eastern Conference title. The Don Meredith to Bob Hayes passing combo will be just a little too much for the Redskins to handle.

St. Louis 35, Atlanta 17 — The Cards still have some hopes for that Eastern title, but only if they win the rest of them and Dallas stumbles. The new Falcons have won two on their three-game road trip, but will be overmatched against St. Louis' opportunistic defense. The Cards need it too badly to falter.

Cleveland 20, Philadelphia 17 — The Browns beat the Eagles 27-7 last month and must do it again to keep alive their mathematical chance for the Eastern crown. They'll send the league's best rushing offense, Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green, against an Eagle team that looked good last week behind third-string quarterback Jack Concannon.

San Francisco 21, Chicago 20 — They tied 30-30 earlier this year and this one is a pick 'em affair. The nod to the 49ers on the home field.

Minnesota 17, Detroit 14 — A mild upset pick. Detroit won the first meeting this season, but it's unlikely they'll get another six-field goal performance out of Garo Voreman.

Pittsburgh 40, New York 33 — They played a 34-34 tie early this season, but injuries have ruined the Giants since then. The New York offense has scored 81 points in the last two games, but the defense has allowed 121. A clef prospect for the Steelers.

AFL

Kansas City 35, Miami 14 — The Raiders have the Western title in their pocket, but don't figure to let down enough to help the Dolphins. The passing of Len Dawson and the running of Mike Garrett, Bert Coan and Curtis McClinton should make it easy.

Boston 27, Houston 14 — The Patriots need this one as another step on the road to an Eastern title. The Oilers have had their troubles since September, and the Patriot defense and the running of Jim Nance won't give them any respite.

San Diego 17, New York 14 — The Chargers have made a mild comeback since a mid-season slump. The San Diego defense is the toughest in the league to pass against and should prove to be a match for the Jets' Joe

Techsters Hosting Miss. State Tonight

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs, still unconvinced that they can't hold their own against the Southeastern Conference brand of basketball, will give it another try tonight against one of the league's best — Mississippi State.

The powerful Maroons move into Memorial Gym to lead off an important two - game stand for Tech against SEC opponents. Ole Miss's Rebels come in on Monday. Tip - off time for both games will be 8 p.m.

Coach Scotty Robertson's Canines opened their December anti - SEC crusade by dropping a pair of road tilts to Alabama, 84 - 73, and to Auburn, 88 - 77, but returned home with their heads still high. They had given both opponents all they wanted, swapping the lead with the Crimson Tiders through 37 minutes of play, and felt unanimously that they could have reversed both decisions on their home court.

"I was very well pleased with them," Coach Robertson declared. "They kept their poise real well in some difficult situations against two fine teams. I was especially pleased with the defensive work of Jim Pruett."

It was Pruett who held Alabama's crack guard, Mike Nordholz, without a point for ten minutes of action before he fell into foul trouble.

Robertson also said that the all - around excellent work of junior Malcolm "Mouse" Smith had earned him a crack at a starting berth, and that the versatile Monrovia will go at forward against State. Other starters will be 6 - 11 Richard Peek of Pensacola, Fla., and seven-foot freshman Charlie Bishop at the tandem post, Pruett of Shreveport and senior Leon Barmore of Ruston, the team's top scorer to date, at guard.

Robertson cautioned his squad

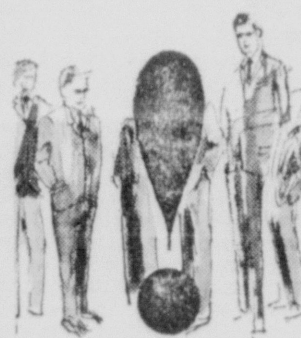

doubtedly be the toughest opponent to date, and very possibly the toughest on the schedule.

"They have an all - conference forward in 6-7 David Williams," he pointed out. "Their heights range from 6 feet to 6-8 and they're an experienced ball club. We'll have to play by far our best game to beat them."

The Maroons, coached by Joe Dan Gold, opened their season with an 81-70 conquest of Northeast State and tuned up for their Ruston appearance by competing in the Southern Invitational Tournament at Hattiesburg, Miss., earlier this week.

Lawson Little is the only golfer ever to win the British and U. S. amateur championships two years in a row.

Doubleheader Played Here

St. Mary's of Natchitoches clipped St. Frederick of Monroe, 52-45 and Wossman ripped to a 89-62 decision over Baskin Friday night in a doubleheader in the old St. Matthew's gym.

There were scoring shows in both games.

St. Mary's Mike Henry ripped the nets for 35 points to lead his team's victory while Landel McKeithen ripped for 35 points for Baskin and Wossman watched Donnie Graves shove in 27 points.

Both St. Mary's and Wossman were never headed.

In a girls game, Wossman trimmed Baskin, 71-46. Jonie Johnson had 20 for Wossman and teammates Linda Tullos got 28 and Janet Barnes hit 21. Kathy McKeithen sank 21 for Baskin.

Jim Davis tallied 18 and Roger Smith added 14 to the Wossman win.

John Ross hit 23 for the Warriors.

Cowboys Sign 2 Grid Stars

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — McNeese State College opened its recruiting season recently by signing two members from Kinder High School's district 4-A runnerup squad to football pacts.

Lane Cappel and Larry Woodcock, both all - district players, agreed to a Cowboy scholarship Wednesday, signing the pacts with McNeese State assistant coach Ernie Duplechin.

Cappel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cappel of Kinder, was an outstanding back for the Yellow Jackets the past season, rolling up more than 750 yards rushing and scoring a total of 102 points.

A 17 year old, 5-11, 180 pounder, Cappel played both halfback and fullback for Kinder High.

Woodcock, the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Woodcock of Kinder, performed at tackle for the Yellow Jackets and was rated one of the top trenchmen in the district.

The Kinder tackle, a 6-1, 215 pounder, was, like Cappel, a member of the district 4-A all-star team this year.

McNeese head football coach Jim Clark termed the signing of the two Kinder High School players a feather in the cap for the Pokes.

"We certainly consider them two top prospects," Clark stated, going on to add that he was extremely pleased that the two young men selected McNeese State College in which to continue their education and their football play.

Everyone Is An Enemy To Maris

NEW YORK (AP) — The 16-year-old girl had a crush on Roger Maris — a sort of hero worshiper's crush.

More than Elvis Presley, more than Bobby Darin, more than the Beatles, she wanted to see Roger Maris and get his autograph.

Her father had some connections, of a sort. He would try to arrange it, he said. He started some wheels turning.

"Maris doesn't go for this kind of stuff," a Yankee official said. "But I'll see what I can do."

The matter was presented to Maris. Maris just grunted. "It's just a girl — and she thinks you're great," the outfielder was told. "Okay," Maris consented, grudgingly.

Meticulous preparations were made. The father would bring the girl to a side door near the Yankee dressing room. The father would go inside and get Maris. Maris would come to the door.

Maris was sitting alone in the dressing room when he was approached. He was dour and uncommunicative. Fumblingly, the father approached the ball player and made his pitch.

Maris gave the intruder a cold stare. Steel gray eyes, like knife points. Without a word, he donned a shirt and followed the father to the side door.

There the girl, wide-eyed and in pigtails, stood — a Yankee program in her hands, every muscle trembling.

Maris lumbered up and extended his hand. "Hi," he said. He tried to be nice.

The girl was awe struck. She couldn't speak. Maris shuffled embarrassedly, like a school boy. "How did you get interested in baseball?" he asked. The girl muttered something.

Soon it was all over. Maris trudged slowly back to the dressing room, his eyes on the floor. He took his old place, saying nothing.

He may be one of nature's misunderstood children — this strapping, good-looking athlete who hit more home runs in one season than any other baseball player.

Babe Ruth was a roisterer. He liked his beer and good times. He was a big, playful kid. Everybody thought he was terrific.

Maris is cut from another bolt of cloth. He is tense and withdrawn. Not even his fellow players can get close to him. He lives within himself.

What forges this sort of personality is not known. Early adversity — as in the case of Ted Williams or golf's Ben Hogan — may have built up a hard crust around him and made him suspicious of everybody.

Everybody is an enemy. Everybody has an angle. Everybody wants to take advantage of him.

Maris might have been one of the nation's most popular and idolized athletes. He had everything going for him. He was big and good-looking. He was a star in the country's favorite sport, baseball. He was the game's greatest home run hitter, with an asterisk.

But Maris never was able to emerge from his shell. He feuded with newspapermen and they wound up deriding him. Once he challenged a newspaper critic to a fist fight in the Yankee dugout. The critic balked.

He brushed past autograph seekers with a growl. They spat and jeered. Fans booed him.

In 1961, when he was hitting 61 home runs and sharing the limelight with Mickey Mantle as one of the "M&M" boys, he never got into the swing of it.

While the people cheered for Mantle, Maris sat in the corner and sulked. His hair fell out. Tension took on him. He should have been happy and outgoing. Instead, he was bitter and introspective.

Maris tried to be the "good guy." But it was tough. It was obvious, he wanted to go somewhere and hide. The limelight wasn't his cup of tea.

Afterward, when he should have been able to call his own shots, he antagonized his bosses. He had few close friends among the Yankee players.

Injuries and slumps followed. He was accused of loafing on the job.

ton, Carl Ready of Sicily Island, and Bobby Sutton of Southside of Monroe.

The fullbacks are Henry Krause of Sicily Island and Joe Banks of Mangham. Krause and Hukabay are the tow sophomores.

Charles Stuart of Sterlington and Lonnie Mahoney of Waterproof are the two quarterbacks, with Stuart picked for his team-directing abilities and Mahoney selected more for his defensive efforts.

At ends are Roy Peiers of Crowville, Al Baudoin of St. Frederick, and Alvin Wiggins of Sicily Island, to go along with Trant.

The tackles are Wyman Mardis of Sterlington, Gary Ezell of Sicily Island, Billy Colvin of Newellton, and Douglas Nichols of Wisner.

Guards are Larry Bailey of Wisner, Lonnie Fletcher of Holly Ridge, Larry Sikes of Newellton, and Ed Butts of Waterproof.

The centers are Danny James of Waterproof and Stanley May of Newellton.

Sutton was the workhorse for the Southside Pelicans. He carried the ball 200 times for 817 yards. He returned 20 punts for 120 yards and 12 kickoffs for 150 yards. He also scored 84 points during the season.

Ready, a junior, aided the Sicily Island championship quest with 887 yards on 157 carries and scored 78 points. He completed 16 of 37 halfback passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns. He also came up with 54 individual tackles on the season and 55 assists.

Krause picked up 1,032 yards on 124 carries and was the district's leading scorer with 87 points. Another top defensive hand, Krause had 36 tackles and 32 assists and came up with two fumble recoveries and two pass interceptions during the year.

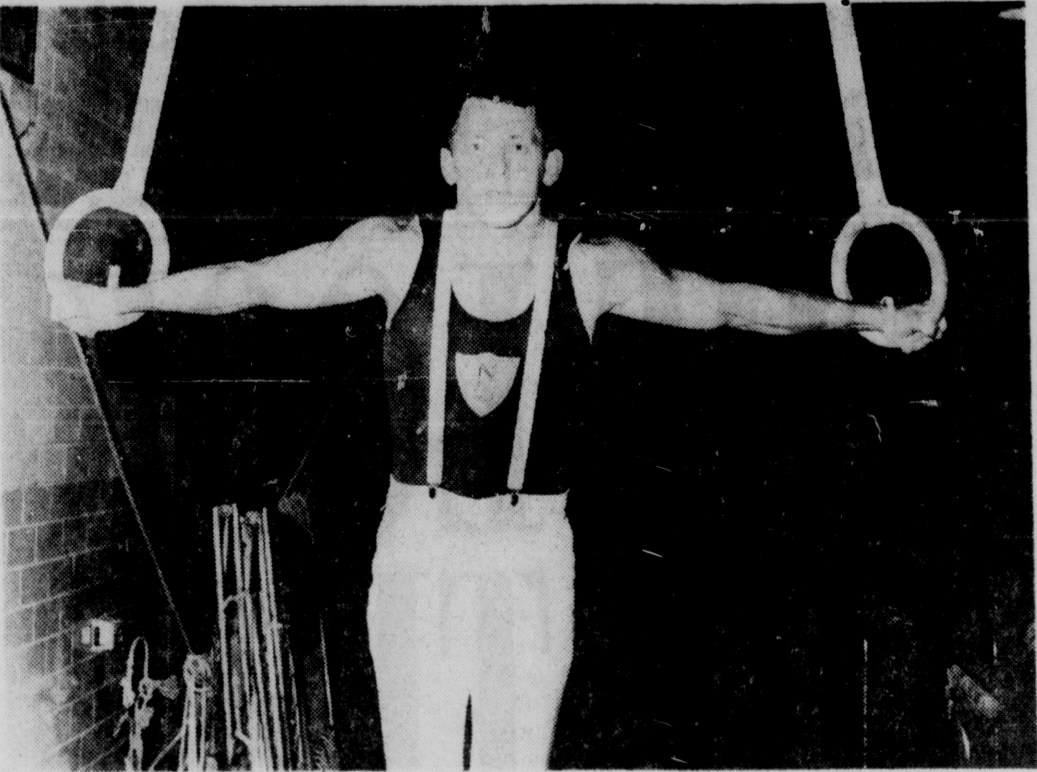

Banks rushed 141 times for Mangham's Dragons and netted 976 yards.

DEFENDING CHAMPION in four events in the Southern U. S. Gymnastics Federation meet here tonight is Dennis Sullivan of host Northeast State. Sullivan won the trampoline, high bar, still rings and all-around championships in the Southern USGF

Defending Champs Plentiful In Southern Gymnasts Meet

Defending champions in nine events will be entered in the Southern U.S. Gymnastics Federation Championships which will be held on the Northeast State campus this afternoon and tonight.

The championship division of the meet will be held in Brown Gym beginning at 7:30 p.m. Sullivan, who won the all-around

Nicklaus, Palmer Regain Lead In Team Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer finished the third round of the $275,000 PGA championship at dusk Friday, firing a 63 to regain the lead and move two strokes ahead of the field at 192.

The Palmer-Nicklaus marathon lasted five minutes short of six hours as play was slowed by high winds and 69 other teams competing for the $50,000 top money.

In second place at 194 was the team of Doug Sanders-Al Besselink who had a 67.

Two brother teams, Buster and Jacky Cupit and Jay and Lionel Hebert, shared third place at 195. The Heberts logged 66 and the Cupit brothers shot a course record 61.

Jack McGowan and Dick Crawford were five strokes off the pace at 197 after their 66 rounds, holding fourth place alone.

The slow play agitated Nicklaus and Palmer. "For everyone's sake, golf has got to be speeded up," said Palmer. "And there's only one remedy—they have got to start moving along faster. We waited at every slot."

Nicklaus and Palmer were only minutes from darkness when they wound up, and officials already were preparing to shift starting times for the final round to allow them to hole out in the morning.

Nicklaus said on the 18th green he could see the hole but he couldn't see what his putt should do and was unable to line up his putter blade.

They took par on the hole after Palmer got the clubhouse floodlights off because they "gave an illusion."

Golf's most famous team collected nine birdies in carding the identical score that gave it the first round lead. After 54 holes, each has stroked 13 birdies—and two bogeys—in bringing the tournament to 24 under par.

Sanders and Besselink hit on five birdie putts today in their 67 round and their poorest of the first three rounds. Johnson and Blocker did likewise.

The best round ever in team play on the "master," 6,896-yard east course belonged to the Longview, Tex., Cupit brothers. Jacky, 28, made 10 birdies alone and the team hit eight in a row while the class A division competition will be held beginning at 2:30 p.m. at the same location. Admission prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Heading the returning champions in the championship class is Northeast's Dennis Sullivan, who won the all-around title in last spring's National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) meet, won four Southern USGF championships here last year—in trampoline, high bar, still rings and all-around.

The titleholder in two other championship events, Tom Donovan of LSU, is also expected defend his titles. The LSU star won last year in free exercise and long horse.

Three champions are back in the class A division — Clyde Ashley of LSU in side horse, Bill Woodson of Memphis State in trampoline and Bobby Rombach of LSU in rings.

Coach Jerry Ainsworth of host Northeast said he expected Ashley, Woodson and Rombach to defend their class A titles although one or more of the three may compete in the championship division this year.

No official team champion is declared in the meet although Northeast was first in unofficial point totals last year with 64½ points to 59 for LSU. Northeast, bolstered by the addition of three national champions and other outstanding newcomers, is rated even stronger this season.

In addition to Northeast, LSU and Memphis State, schools which are expected to have entries in the meet include the University of Texas, North Texas State and Southeastern.

Sullivan is expected to receive strong competition for the all-around championship from teammate Katsutoshi Kanazaki. The Japanese star won the all-around crown in the Midwest Invitational in Chicago last week with Sullivan finishing ninth. Kanazaki also took the high bar and parallel bars championships at Chicago. He is the present national high bar titleholder.

Other national champions who joined the Northeast team this year are Ed Clarke and Steve Parr, who won titles last year in the Pasadena (Calif.) National Invitational Championships. Clarke won the still rings title and Parr the long horse crown.

Other Northeast entries will be Ray Carnahan, Ruben Villalobos, Kenneth Leonard, Robert King, Steve Nelson, Neal King, Dwight Mclemore and Harold Kauffman.

Coatta Named Wisconsin Mentor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—University of Wisconsin named John Coatta its new head football coach Friday and entrusted him with the task of restoring the Badgers to Big Ten football respectability.

The choice of the 36-year-old Badger defensive coach for the top job at Wisconsin capped a talent hunt that began with the resignation of veteran coach Milt Bruhn, who bowed out near the end of a third successive losing season. The appointment is effective at once.

Coatta was given a three-year contract. His first year on the job will carry a salary of $19,500. Bruhn's assignment was changed at the former coach's own request. Bruhn was named assistant athletic director and will continue as a professor of intercollegiate athletics.

The new coach named at a meeting of the university's Board of Regents here, inherits a team that compiled a 3-6-1 record in 1966.

However, he will be able to draw on a talent-laden freshman team that was unbeaten and several promising sophomores who gained action experience with the 1966 varsity.

The Dearborn, Mich., native returned to Wisconsin, his alma mater, in 1965 after six years as an assistant coach at Florida State.

The former Badger quarterback, who still holds a string of school and Big Ten passing records, coached the offensive backfield in his first season at Madison but took over as defensive coach last season.

The personnel-rich 1966 Wisconsin defense played well despite steady attrition from injuries, holding Iowa State, Iowa, Northwestern, and Minnesota to one touchdown or less and keeping powerhouses Southern California and Nebraska, in check until worn down in the second half.

Coatta, a trim, handsome and well-tailored man, was at Bruhn's side after each Wisconsin game this fall to answer newsmen's questions about defensive aspects of the afternoon's play.

Many considered him Bruhn's heir apparent from the time he returned to Wisconsin from Florida State.

Coatta was a Madison businessman before joining the Florida State Staff in 1959, but he had prepared himself for a coaching career while a student. He earned both his bachelor and master's degree in physical education.

Besides starring in football as an amazingly accurate short passer, Coatta lettered in basketball, baseball, track and hockey.

His football passing records include a 1950 completion percentage of .642 — still the highest in Big Ten history. Against Ohio State that year he completed 10 straight passes and in 1951 he completed 19 of 32 passes against Illinois.

Coatta was among nine announced finalists for the job, including Notre Dame defensive coach John John Ray and Bo Schembechler, head coach at Miami of Ohio.

Sunk Ship Survivors' Hope Fades

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—With 235 dead or missing, hope of finding further survivors from the sunken Greek passenger ship Heraklion faded Friday night.

The number of survivors remained at 47.

Rescue craft searching the Aegean Sea where the Heraklion sank Thursday in a violent storm reported finding only a few bodies.

"We are losing hope of finding anyone else alive," said an official of the Merchant Marine Ministry. "But the search is continuing and will go on at least until Saturday."

The 8,922-ton ship was known to have been carrying 206 passengers and 76 crewmen. But the total might be higher.

The naval school at Canae, Crete, where the scheduled 10-hour crossing started Wednesday night, said it would take days to determine whether any of its cadets had been on the Heraklion as unlisted passengers. The school began its Christmas season leave period the day the ship sailed.

At least one cadet was among the survivors and he said he saw a classmate drown when a wave swept over a ship's door they were clinging to. In a Piraeus hospital, the cadet, Jordanis Zigridis, said he awakened to find the ship dark and listing sharply, grabbed a lifebelt from a rack and ran to deck.

"Screams mixed with the roar of the waves," he said. "I could barely stand up. The ship listed so severely by then that I had to crawl upward across the deck. I fastened the lifebelt around me and dropped over the side."

He said he swam to where a classmate was clinging to the door, but the waves washed his companion away. After 10 hours in the water, Zigridis was picked up by the Greek ship Milnos.

The exact number of bodies recovered so far is not known. The morgue at Athens' port of Piraeus held 46. Others were aboard search ships still at sea.

Church Asks U.N. Auspice For Viet War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Representatives of most of the nation's major Protestant and Orthodox churches urged Friday that the burden of settling the Viet Nam war be shifted from American to international shoulders through the United Nations.

"This war must be brought to an end soon," declared the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

"To that end, it is necessary to seek collective, international judgment, responsibility and action," rather than "merely unilateral judgment and action," the assembly said.

It asked that the United States make clear its readiness to take the following steps:

1. To support U.N. supervision of negotiations for a cease-fire, with these negotiations to include the National Liberation Front-Viet Cong—as well as the United States and North and South Viet Nam.

2. To give "the most serious consideration to a halt in the bombing of North Viet Nam" without "advance assurance of reciprocal action" by North Viet Nam. (It was noted that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has proposed such a step.)

3. To agree to "a phased withdrawal" of all American "troops and bases from Vietnamese territory, if and when they can be replaced by adequate international peace-keeping forces."

4. To "make clear that a primary objective of a settlement" is "the independence of South Viet Nam from outside interference, with complete liberty to determine the character of its future government."

N.Y. Post Office Branch Of North Pole For Letters To Santa Claus

NEW YORK (AP) — Every child, "sometimes I was good, sometimes I was bad but not too bad because I am only 9." At this time of year, when kids start drawing up lists, New York's General Post Office becomes a branch of the North Pole. Thousands of letters to Santa from across the country, and even from around the world, are being directed here. The mail is pouring in; touching, humorous, sometimes a little waggish, and the postmen are determined to see that no one is forgotten at Christmas. Debra used a piece of construction paper and a fistful of stars to show she had been doing well in behavior, obedience and grooming. One boy offered to help Santa and "the elks" make the toys. Another said he still wanted a machine gun, if it wasn't too much "trouble." He promised to leave some marshmallows for the reindeer. One child said if he got what he wanted he would leave Santa "some cookies and some whisky."

Spirit Of Holiday Prevails For Dance Held By Northeast's Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity

Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity held its annual Christmas dance on Saturday from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight at the Columbia Social Club on Armand Street. "Tom and The Cats" provided music for dancing.

A spirit of holiday festivity prevailed in the decorations, with a lighted Christmas tree placed near the bandstand. Red and green balloons, peppermint candy sticks, lollipops and crepe paper streamers were draped from the ceiling.

President and Mrs. Randal Thompson greeted guests as they arrived. During intermission Santa Claus distributed large glass mugs with the fraternity's Greek letters dates and chaperones name engraved on each. At this time the fraternity presented Miss Jeanne Claire Carroll with a trophy for her outstanding assistance to them in the past years.

Members, pledges and their dates attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Thompson, Marcus Wolf, Monte Sue Ballard, David Covington, Jackie Mehl, Don Morton, John Ellen Brown, George Cannon, Cheryl Hoddenbach, Tommy Allen, Sone Frey, Johnny Reitzell, Barbara Sweet, Ronnie Sumter, Linda Dillahunty, Charles McMahon, Becky Butler, Pam Samperi, Mary Ann Neill, Joey Bryant, Cheryl Turnipseed, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. ## Pilots Christmas Projects To Aid Many Deserving Citizens

Mrs. Jack Hollingsworth presided at the business meeting of Pilot Club of Monroe on December 6, at Hotel Frances.

A detailed report of Pelican Girls State was given by Lynn Foreman, president of Ouachita Parish High School Anchor Club. Miss Foreman was sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Jack Rushing, community service chairman, requested members to save their Christmas cards and old nylon hose to be used for the rehabilitation program at St. Mary's School in Clarks.

A letter of appreciation was read from United Church Women of Tennessee for the club's commemorative stamps sent to aid deserving countries overseas.

A Christmas party was planned for the residents at Riverside Convalescent Home for today. The two Anchor Clubs are planning the entertainment for the residents. Pilots will give each resident a Christmas gift. A vote was made to make a contribution to Louisiana Tuberculosis Association and to CARE.

Mrs. Virginia Allison, finance chairman, announced the club is sponsoring Nicolai marionette show "Hansel and Gretel" on February 18, 1967 at 10 a.m., in Neville High School Auditorium. Mrs. A. T. White, co-ordinating chairman, reported that the program meeting and Christmas party would be held at the Holiday Inn Hotel on December 20th.

Catchy Phrases Aren't Needed When One Looks Real 'Fetchy'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: All the boys confide in me like I was their mother or something. I don't mind listening because in the future I know I will have to do that quite often. (I plan to be a social worker or a nurse or something of that sort.) The boys always ask my advice on how to get dates with girls they have a crush on and so forth.

Is there some witty or catchy phrase I can throw out to let them know I am available? Also, my folks are taking me on a trip, and I would like to lose 30 pounds in three weeks. I'd sure like to look cute for the trip. Hurry your answer.

DEAR OUT: One problem at a time, starting with the one that is probably responsible for the others. You can "slim down" by going on a serious diet under a doctor's supervision. But don't expect to shed 30 pounds in 21 days. It took you longer than that to pile it on.

Boys treat you like their mothers because you probably remind them of THEIRS. When you look more like a girl they want to date, they'll realize that you are "available," and you won't need a catchy phrase with which to catch them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl. When I was younger and still in school, my mother always said, "Make your bed." Sometimes I didn't have time, so I wouldn't. When my older sister married I got the room to myself and started taking more pride in it, so now I always make my bed. About two times a week I wake up to find my mother sleeping in the other twin bed.

She says she likes to have a break from my father's snoring so she comes in my room to sleep. I don't mind that, except she never makes her own bed so I'm stuck with it. She complains a lot about backaches and headaches, so if I don't do it, it doesn't get done. What do you suggest?

UNPAID MAID DEAR UNPAID: I suggest you make her bed and don't look for any medals. Be grateful for the chance to remove the wrinkles from your mother's bed. From the sound of your letter, you must have put a few in her bed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VERNON: Don't ask her any embarrassing questions, but if her kiss spoke "volumes" you can be sure it wasn't a first edition. How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, in care of News-Star. For a personal, unpublished reply, include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ADDITIVE

Add slivers of syrup—preserved ginger to applesauce and serve with roast duck, goose, turkey or chicken. If only candied ginger is at hand, wash the pieces of ginger in hot water to remove the sugar coating and to soften before slivering.

Ward-Dickey Wedding Held In Sterlington Methodist Church

White chrysanthemums and glistening magnolia leaves decorated the altar of St. Andrews Methodist Church in Sterlington for the wedding of Miss Dianne Dickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dickey, Sterlington, and James Lonnie Ward, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Ward of Ferrville, on November 29. The Rev. Minns S. Robertson officiated at the double ring ceremony performed by soft candlelight at seven in the evening. Miss Annette Wood presented appropriate nuptial music on the organ.

Mr. Dickey escorted his daughter to the altar. She was wearing a white linen dress with overlay of open crochet. White tulle and satin formed her headpiece, and she held a bouquet of white chrysanthemums surrounding a white orchid.

Maid of honor Miss Sandra Zumbro was attired in a beige winter linen model, matching mink hat and carried a pink chrysanthemum bouquet.

Serving as best man was Martin R. Hemler and groomsmen ushers were Alfred Slade and Charlie Earl.

Arranged Flowers Depict Bridal Theme At Party

Floral arrangements depicting a bridal theme were used for a party honoring Miss Norma Jane Hendricks, daughter of Mrs. Rosalea Hendricks, on December 6. The bride-elect is the fiancée of Stephen Howard Rugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rugg, and their wedding is to be an event of December 29.

Mrs. Randall Fletcher, Mrs. Ralph Graves, Mrs. Westley Graves, Mrs. L. C. McCaskill and Mrs. Pete Smith were hostesses for the night pre-nuptial party in Benoit Recreation Center.

Greeting guests upon arrival Miss Susan Rugg ushered them to the receiving line comprised of the honoree and mothers of the betrothed couple.

Guests registered in a bridal book which was presented to the honoree, who was wearing a pink knit dress accented by a white corsage.

Mrs. Jimmy Breland, Mrs. Pat Conti, Mrs. J. D. Brasher, Mrs. Mary Mounger, Mrs. T. W. Cox, Mrs. Claude Roberts, Mrs. Charles Alexander, Mrs. Velpo Guess, Mrs. Robert Haines, Mrs. Joan James, Mrs. Elsie Young, Miss Marjorie, Mrs. George Adams, Mrs. Pat McHenry, Mrs. William Causey, Mrs. Evelyn Bledsoe, Mrs. R. W. Plair, Mrs. Ernest Truett, Mrs. M. D. Garlington, Mrs. H. M. Chatham.

TIMED SMOKE

Designed to help a smoker cut down or out, a cigarette case has a built-in time clock which enables the puffer to regulate usage. The timer can be pre-set to open the case automatically anywhere from 10 minutes to two hours. But once set, the case can't be opened until time is up.

Nancy Beasley Feted At Prenuptial Party

Miss Nancy Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beasley of Rayville, is the bride-elect of Lt. Allen Carpenter Jr. and their approaching nuptials on December 28 in Rayville Presbyterian Church inspired a tea shower Tuesday. Mrs. Leonard Mathews of Ruston hosted the pre-nuptial festivity in her home from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mathews, the honoree, her mother and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Harold Smalley of Ruston, and Mrs. Ken Hollis Jr., sister of the honoree, greeted guests upon arrival.

Pink chrysanthemums and heather decorated the party table which held the silver tea service and trays of dainty refreshments.

Miss Marcia Mathews presided at the guest book. Bridal gifts were displayed in the family room.

A corsage of miniature pink chrysanthemums was presented to Miss Beasley who was wearing a burgundy and shell pink straight lined dress and burgundy accessories.

Mrs. Eugene Hammons, Mrs. Fred Glover, Mrs. C. M. Carter, Mrs. F. F. Stephenson, Mrs. W. R. Pearce, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. W. H. Sumrall joined the honoree, hostess and Mrs. Beasley and Mrs. Smalley for the bridal party.

4-H Management Idea Suggested

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — A forestry specialist with the LSU Extension Service in Baton Rouge has suggested that 4-H Club members manage sections of land owned by lumber companies.

A. S. McKean spoke at a meeting of the Louisiana Forest Industries Committee here Friday.

Under McKean's plan a company would set aside a tract of land for the 4-H members, instruct them in forest management, and let them manage the tract. The timber would revert to company management when the 4-Hers finished high school.

Recruiter Will Serve 4 Parishes

Madison, Richland, Franklin and Tensas Parishes will be serviced by U. S. Army recruiter M-Sgt. Reuben E. Jones who is now headquarters at the Monroe Recruiting Station.

M-Sgt. Jones is originally from Baton Rouge, but now resides in Monroe.

He retired Jan. 1, 1961, from the U. S. Army, but went back into active duty this past October to serve as a local recruiter.

The sergeant has seen overseas duty since 1940. He enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1940 and served in Africa and Europe during World War II, with the 2nd Army Division, 82nd Airborne, 2nd Range Battalion. In 1947, he served in China, then served in Korea in 1948, in Japan from 1948 to 1950 and in Korea during the latter part of 1950.

From late 1950 to 1952, he served on a U. S. Military Mission with the Iranian Army in Iran, then was stationed in Europe from 1953 to 1955. He served as a recruiting officer from 1956 to 1959 in Hutchinson, Kan., and was sergeant major at the NCO Academy at Fort Riley, Kan., from 1959 to 1960 before his first retirement from the Army.

World News Roundup

In the news from around the world:

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—A judge agreed with Ronald (Buster) Edwards on Friday that he was not the mastermind of Britain's great train robbery but sent him to prison for 15 years for the role he did play.

A jury in Nottingham convicted Edwards, 35, after deliberating 105 minutes. When he was arrested last September, Edwards was widely billed as the mastermind behind the $7.28-million robbery in 1963.

But Edwards told the court he was only one of the smaller fry. The judge, in sentencing, said Edwards was not one of the leading planners.

"But even those who played a subordinate part must be punished for a crime which shocked the country," the judge added.

Edwards also was given 12 years for conspiracy but the sentences are concurrent. Only $961,000 of the loot has been recovered. Thirteen others named in the robbery have been sentenced to terms of from three to 30 years. But two, Charles Wilson and Ronald Biggs, escaped from prison and are at large.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Witnesses at the trial of Omar Dhani, Indonesia's former air force commander, testified Friday that President Sukarno did nothing to stop a Communist coup attempt Oct. 1, 1965.

The military tribunal questioned witnesses closely about Sukarno's role in the coup that prompted the army later to seize control of the nation. Most witnesses said Sukarno gave at least tacit consent to the attempted Red coup.

Dhani testified that Sukarno decided the day of the coup to appoint a new army chief, not knowing that, hours earlier, the old chief, Gen. Achmad Yani, and five other generals had been assassinated by the Communists. Dhani is being tried on charges of helping the Communists.

There have been a few calls. All were from men.

"A few wanted to discuss the letter," she said. "And some tried to —uh—you know—line something up."

Miss Lienke is the daughter of an Oklahoma doctor. She has three brothers, all younger than herself.

She said several copies of her letter have been mailed to her parents, but the anonymous senders were wasting their time.

"My parents knew about the letter," she explained. "We're a very compatible family and I've often discussed it with them. They share my views."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robinson McVaine, U.S. ambassador to Guinea, is on his way back to Conakry, the city where he was detained for 24 hours Oct. 30.

McVaine, informants said he left Washington Friday morning and is due to arrive in the Guinea capital next Monday.

The return of the diplomat to his post appears to indicate that the United States is ready to close an unpleasant chapter in U.S.-Guinean relations. It started with McVaine's detention and a series of harassments in Conakry following an incident in Accra, the Ghana capital, where 19 Guineans, including the foreign minister, were taken off a Pan American World Airways plane.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman urged North Viet Nam Friday to reconsider its refusal to attend a conference on prisoners of war under auspices of the International Red Cross.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the United States has made clear its willingness to discuss the question of prisoners in general and in particular 19 North Viet Nam seamen held by the United States.

McCloskey estimated about 130 American military personnel are held by North Viet Nam.

Antimissile Missile Contest

U.S., Soviets Face Newer Arms Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States and Russia—despite their agreement on a treaty to ban the bomb in space—face the prospect of an equally frightening new arms race closer to the ground.

Unless they reach some understanding, there is a chance they might find themselves plunging into full-scale deployment of an antimissile missile defense system—at staggering cost and considerable danger.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union face increasing pressure to spend more money on their separate versions of the Great Society. This disturbs officials enough.

But they also see a danger that—by tampering with the existing nuclear balance of power—an antimissile arms race could jeopardize peace itself.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara first disclosed on Nov. 10 that the Russians had begun deploying antimissile missiles.

The scope of Russia's system is subject to debate, but it appears probable, from all available information, that the Soviets so far have only partially entered the antimissile field.

Riding Club Officers Are Named Here

Board members elected for 1967 are Bill Martian, Jim Spellers and Oscar Hattaway.

In addition to Webster Hattaway, others elected to the Dixie Riding Club Association are Maie Hattaway and Jim Spellers.

Corn Truck Overturns; Fire Kills 3

SHANNON, Miss. (AP) — A truck loaded with corn skidded on rain-slick U.S. 45 near here Friday, overturned and burst into flames. Three of five occupants died.

The victims were Harold Walden, 27, his wife, Linda, 22, and their son, Tony, 5.

Two men, Otis Lee Jones and George W. Jordan, rescued two daughters, Margaret, 2, and Berry Jo, 3. The family was from Booneville.

They were on their way to Starkville to deliver the corn. Lee County Coroner Bill Sides of Tupelo said the victims apparently died by burning.

The Shannon fire department extinguished the blaze and the Tupelo fire department cut the top off the truck to reach the bodies.

The accident blocked traffic for nearly an hour on the busy highway.

Fire Destroys Residence Here

Fire destroyed a residence at 615 Harris St. Friday night and partially damaged two nearby homes, according to Ouachita Parish firemen.

No one was injured in the blaze which broke out around 6:30 p.m. and continued until approximately 9 p.m. by two units of the Sterlington Station of the parish fire department.

The frame structure the owner of which had not been learned late Friday, was burning out of control when firemen arrived on the scene, according to a spokesman for the fire department.

Damage to the other two buildings, located at 613 and 617 Harris St., was described as light.

Correct Diagnosis Of Sciatica Important

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: For the past few weeks I have been having pain in my right buttock. Can it be sciatica? — Mrs. C.

Comment: I vividly recall a visit I made to a patient a number of years ago. "I wish you'd come over as soon as you can," said his wife. "He has an awful sciatica."

As I couldn't come over right away I suggested that she apply heat until I got there. When I arrived I was greeted by an unusual display of heat therapy. The husband lay prone on the kitchen floor and his wife, kneeling beside him, was plying him up and down his backside with a big, hot iron. If I hadn't come when I did, I'm sure we would have had a third degree burn on our hands (and his buttocks). Later investigation showed that the so-called sciatica was due to arthritic changes in the hip joint.

Before any treatment is begun — whether it be such simple therapy as swallowing a few aspirin tablets every day, submitting to a hot iron, etc., it is most important to make the diagnosis.

Is the large sciatic nerve which courses down the back of the thigh the real culprit? And if so, what is causing it to produce symptoms which are so discomforting?

I believe every patient who has had so-called sciatica for a number of weeks without relief should have at least the following routine checkup. An X ray of the spine to make sure that faulty disc trouble in the spine isn't the cause of abnormal pressure on the origin of this large nerve — or osteoporosis or other degenerative arthritis. Studies to rule out the possibility of diabetes mellitus, or any other disease that might be complicated by nerve inflammation. Examination of the blood to determine if anemia is present. X ray of the hip joint and of the lower bowel to make sure that no outside pressure such as a tumor is encroaching on the nerve. And a rectal examination and lower bowel examination by sigmoidoscopy (lighted tube into the bowel), for the same reason.

It's true that a few aspirin pills and wet or dry heat applied to the back and buttocks may help in many cases. (And a hot iron, judiciously applied may help, too). So can a back-brace. But what's most important is correct diagnosis. Have your doctor try to discover the underlying cause. Saying the pain is due to sciatica without learning why is like treating "rheumatism" without finding out if it is really arthritis — and exactly what kind it is.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a raw place in each corner of my mouth. Sometimes it cracks and bleeds. Ointments don't help. I am 65, weigh 100, and in fair health, but have a poor appetite. This has been bothering me for four months. I take no coffee, liquor or cigarettes. What do you think? — Mrs. D.

Comment: I don't know the reason. But why don't you check with your doctor on your daily diet intake? Are you getting enough of the right foods? I have seen some patients who had similar complaints who improved when put on a balanced diet reinforced by large doses of vitamin B complex. Vitamin deficiency is sometimes the cause.

Mrs. F: An indolent ulcer is an inactive one. It doesn't seem to heal. The term is often applied to a chronic leg ulcer that stubbornly persists. Or, ulcer anywhere, for that matter.

How many shots are in a rabies series; what part of the body are they given; how often are they given and does the patient have any kind of anesthetic before they are given?

Dr. W. Carroll Summer, head of the Ouachita Parish Health Unit, said the series is 14 shots, given in the abdominal (stomach) muscle once each day. No anesthetic is used, he said. Dr. Summer said the shot could be given possibly in other parts of the body, but the abdominal muscle is considered the best.

In answer to information sought about a strayed Homing Pigeon in last Saturday's issue, the following was sent in by N. M. Moore, Shreveport Racing Pigeon Club:

In reference to the strayed Homing Pigeon, AU 66 FWF 717: In the above number, the AU is for the American Racing Pigeon Union, 66 is for 1966, FWF is the club identification initials, and 717 is the bird's individual number. In other words this seamless band is like a license plate on a car and can be traced from anywhere in the world back to the owner. The club that issued this band is from Fort Worth, Tex., and the secretary of the club is Mr. H. P. Haasch, Rt. 5, Box 2763, Fort Worth, Tex., 76116. The person with the pigeon can write to him for any particulars about the pigeon and how it came to be in the Monroe area. (The bird was found in Crowley in Franklin parish.)

What is the address of the television show "Candid Camera?"

Correspondence to this show should be sent to: Candid Camera, CBS Television Network, 51 West 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

Will the participants that won in the lighting contest last year be eligible to win again this year?

They will be eligible to enter and compete. In fact, they are urged to do so. Whether or not they will win is up to the judges.

What kind of eyesight must one have to qualify for the military police in the U. S. Army, and are there any special requirements for members of the MP's?

If one's eyesight is satisfactory -- with or without glasses -- to be accepted into the Army, this is the only eyesight requirement for the MP's. To enlist for the military police, one must meet the basic qualifications for enlistment in the Army, plus be at least 19 years of age; be five-feet-nine-inches tall or more, without shoes; have the ability to qualify for a driver's permit; be free of embarrassing handicaps or mannerisms; and have no record of convictions of civil offenses other than minor traffic violations.

What is meant by the term, "gentlemen's agreement?"

Our attorney advised us that this term has no legal meaning, therefore is just a private agreement between individuals. Such an agreement cannot be taken to court, he said, if violated.

If a family lives in the country and raises hogs and beef for its own consumption, is it against the law to kill and dress the animals themselves, or do they have to take them to a slaughter house?

The Ouachita Parish Health Unit said as long as a family consumes all the pork or beef itself -- and does not give away or sell any portion of it -- the animals may be slaughtered and dressed at home. But so much discussion of the disposing of diseased animals has arisen that it has made it necessary to demand that such animals be killed and dressed by a slaughter house, so that it will be done in a sanitary manner, if any portion of the pork or beef is intended for selling or giving away.

Coming off the I-20 bridge onto Jackson Street, who has the right of way -- the Jackson Street cars going towards town, or the bridge traffic exiting off the bridge on Jackson?

Police officials say that a traffic island at the Jackson-Bridge Exit intersection prevents autos from possible collision as cars descend from the bridge. Therefore, for both lanes to continue north towards town it is not necessary for either to yield the right-of-way. Cars in both lanes may proceed unimpeded, unless drivers wish to change lanes -- as, for instance, if a car travelling on Jackson attempted to enter the left lane to make a left turn at Calypso. In this case, the driver would yield the right-of-way to the left lane -- cars descending from the bridge -- and enter the left lane only when the way was clear.

When will Northeast Louisiana State College have its new basketball and sports gymnasium ready?

Officials at Northeast pointed out that the college received a $1 million allocation from the Louisiana Construction and Improvement Commission last year for a new gymnasium-physical education center and report they have filed an application for federal matching funds under the Higher Education Facilities Act. A decision on the application may not be made until the summer of 1967 and the completed until 1968 at the earliest. Meanwhile, the College expects to play its basketball games in Monroe's civic arena during the 1967-68 season and until the College facility is completed.

Can a notice jury spend public funds on the maintenance of a road on the top of a levee?

A recent ruling by the Louisiana attorney general's office clearly states that the police jury of a parish has the authority to maintain a road atop a levee, although the levee board may prohibit anyone from riding or driving on the road. And, although the police jury may legally expend funds to maintain the road on top of the levee, the authority would preclude any liability on the part of the police jurors for authorizing work to be done on the road. Stipulation on the banning of use of the road would be where ample provision has been made to guard against any damage for which the levees may be exposed from wear, tear and abuse. The ruling was handed down by John R. Hunter Jr., assistant attorney general.

Trio Of LSU Jailed In Try To Halt Train

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Police jailed three Louisiana State University students Friday on charges of aggravated obstruction of interstate commerce.

Police said they caught the trio trying to derail an Illinois Central passenger train.

Police listed the arrested trio as Edward Lee Burnfield, 18; Joseph Ralph Moses, 20, and Peter Douglas Bayless, 19. No addresses were available.

Police said the three had placed heavy cables, cross-ties and large heavy boxes on the IC tracks near an apartment complex here.

Police said a stakeout was arranged Thursday night after a series of incidents in the neighborhood.

Yule Decorations To Be Unveiled

The official unveiling of the City of Monroe's Christmas decorations has been pushed back to Monday at 6 p.m., according to H. W. McSherry, commissioner of finance and utilities.

McSherry said that rain caused the delay.

Included in the displays will be a life-size Santa Claus, a 25-foot Christmas tree, a Nativity scene and turn-of-the-century carolers.

Birth Curb

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant on Friday night declared his support of birth control efforts as an important factor in the growth of the developing world.

A slowdown in population growth, he said, is essential in the poorer two-thirds of the world, particularly in view of a growing food shortage.

Thant said he recognized and respected the problems posed by faith for many people in relations to birth control, but he said he felt compelled to draw attention to this growing need.

Thant was commenting on a declaration on population growth signed by the heads of state of 12 countries.

MICHIGAN GOV. George Romney, right, said "Hi, Ronnie," as he greets Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan, California, as the pair joined others at the opening session of the Republican Governors' Conference Friday in Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP Wirephoto)

Governors Confab

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Michigan's Gov. George E. Romney stopped barely short of a presidential candidacy Friday night as two of his potential supporters won top leadership posts in the enlarged Republican governor's association.

Romney's announcement at a news conference that he expects to go to Viet Nam to back-ground his belief that President Johnson is politically vulnerable because "I don't think we are doing as good a job as we could be doing there," keynoted a spectacular advance toward an announcement for the party's 1968 presidential nomination.

The GOP governors, governors-elect and retiring state executives chose Gov. John A. Love of Colorado as their new chairman and Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island as vice chairman.

Love told a news conference the understanding is that Chafee will succeed him in the chairmanship within a year.

Both are admirers and supporters of Romney, with each having some reservations about his future performance.

Their election cemented progressive, or moderate, control of what in January will become a 25 member GOP association spooling for action in the 1968 presidential campaign.

While Romney said, as he had before, that he has not made the great decision, not many were left in doubt that when he thinks the proper time has come he will be running for the 1968 nomination with everything he has.

As evidence that he believes a Republican defeat Johnson's expected bid for a second elective term, Romney said it remains to be seen whether Johnson can extract the United States honorably from the Viet Nam commitment before November 1968, or whether "it will take a Republican president to do it."

The Michigan governor displayed the keys that might unlock the door to his decision to become a candidate when he said: "He will not ask governors at this meeting to commit themselves to support him."

—He is not barring possible entry into 1968 presidential primaries.

—He has "nothing to repent for" in his failure to support presidential nominee Barry Goldwater in 1964.

—If volunteers want to form presidential clubs for him, he will not repudiate them.

Romney's arrival at the conference coincided with those of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who sees Romney as the kind of "moderate" the GOP should nominate, and Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan of California, who criticized the Michigan chief executive for not campaigning for Goldwater.

Reagan arrived in Colorado with an entourage of 12 persons in two private jets. He parried questions about his past criticism of Romney by answering that unity is the Republican key now.

Reagan said Romney's standing in the nomination race will hinge on his performance in the months ahead.

The Californian said he is not going to seek the nomination himself. Reminded that Rockefeller said he is unequivocally out of presidential politics, Reagan replied: "Well, that's not a common word in my vocabulary but I think I can use it."

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe said GOP state leaders must work together to repel forces "out on the real right-wing extreme."

"I think the events of the next year probably will indicate how much force the right wing may have," he said.

"I think that what happens in California may provide some clue," Volpe said, "the direction way he attacks the problems of the governorship."

"I don't classify him as a right winger," Volpe said of Reagan. "he leans to the conservative side, that's for sure. I would like to see him in action."

Reagan said he does not think the quest of right-wing power is they are going to be successful in 1968, he said.

Bliss voiced the view that at this point President Johnson is more vulnerable on the impact of the war in Viet Nam than any other single issue. He said the Johnson administration's credibility in this respect undoubtedly was questioned by the voters in the November election.

Retiring Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Goldwater's convention opponent in 1964, brought to the conference a campaign to enlist governors publicly or private in Romney's cause.

Scranton said it was time for the Michigan governor to begin his campaigning. But Romney remained coy, saying he has not made any final decision on his future course.

Scranton, who said he was not commissioned by Romney to do anything in the latter's behalf, said he was asking his colleagues to say, "We're for Romney — at least until he proves he can't do the job."

Conservatives countered with an underground campaign to whip up support for Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, who won re-election spectacularly in November.

This was in the nature of a holding action, an effort to block off Midwestern convention support from any early commitment to Romney until the conservatives could examine his position on issues as they develop.

There was no immediate sign that any such move would have the support of Reagan who is expected to command California's hefty 86-vote convention delegation.

Reagan, already being promoted by some conservative organizations for the 1968 nomination, has been vague about his choice. He has mentioned Sen. -elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Romney and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In all of their huddles in their suites and at news conferences in the swank resort hotel where they are meeting, there was very little talk among the governors about Nixon. Most of them seemed to want a new face, and even his marathon campaign for GOP candidates this year could not qualify Nixon on that score.

Many of the governors were hesitating to enlist this early in the cause of Romney or any other individual.

Typical of this, Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon said he hopes the state executives can get together behind a candidate of moderation. But he was not ready to say that Romney was the man.

Love and Chafee made the unity pitch, telling their colleagues that they have it in their hands to name the nominee if they will stick together. While there seemed little likelihood of unanimity, the 25 governors can be influential in choosing 700 of the 1,333 delegates to the 1968 convention.

There was an undercurrent of uneasiness among the progressives about the eventual intention of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller has said he will never run again. But the spectre of 1964 when Rockefeller blocked other progressives out of the pre-convention contest with Goldwater lurked in the wings.

The New Yorker's brother, Gov.-elect Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, contributed to the suspicion that Nelson may have a change of mind.

On his way to the conference, Winthrop said he hopes Nelson will reconsider. He said the New York governor "has qualifications none of the others have and the party would be foolish not to re-examine."

Love and Chafee said Romney's credentials as a possible nominee could not be challenged because he failed to endorse Goldwater in 1964.

But Gov.-elect Claude R. Kirk Jr. of Florida observed, "I think loyalty is an important element and if you give loyalty you generally get loat."

House minority leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan invited such an expansion of gubernatorial participation in policy making. He pledged that congressional Republicans would work closely with the 25 Republicans who will occupy statehouses next year as a result of the GOP upsurge in the Nov. 8 election.

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, here to confer with the state executives, gave his backing to this move.

Bliss told a news conference he sees no value in reshaping the issue of who failed to support Goldwater in the 1964 campaign as did Romney. Bliss said it would be a mistake to "turn the clock back." Republicans need a high degree of unity if

U.S. Combat Troops

Arrive In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A new contingent of American combat troops arrived in Viet Nam today.

The first elements of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade, a unit formed six months ago at Ft. Benning, Ga., landed at the port city of Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

The size of the contingent was not announced at once. A full brigade has about 4,000 men.

The new arrivals came on the U.S. Navy transport Sultan.

The 199th Brigade is under command of Brig. Gen. Charles W. Ryder Jr. It underwent intensive field training at Camp Shelby, Miss., from Aug. 22 to Oct. 7.

There was no announcement immediately where the new troops would be located in Viet Nam. One unofficial report said they would be sent first to a base camp about 12 miles east of Saigon.

Arrival of elements of the 199th Brigade brought to four the number of separate U.S. brigades deployed in South Viet Nam in addition to six full divisions.

U.S. troop strength here was 362,000 men prior to the latest arrivals. America also has 60,000 men offshore in the 7th Fleet and 30,000, mostly airmen, in Thailand.

Still another U.S. infantry division is scheduled to be sent here in the near future, possibly for deployment in the Mekong delta which is south of Saigon. The area now is mostly garrisoned by South Vietnamese troops.

The U.S. force in Viet Nam is by far the largest among the six allied nations which have contributed troops to the Vietnam side and exceeds also South Viet Nam's regular army of 317,000 men.

Next behind the United States in troop contingents here is South Korea with a 45,000-man force, including two full infantry divisions, a marine brigade and supporting troops.

Australia ranks next with 4,500 men, followed by the Philippines with 2,000. New Zealand and Thailand have sent small contingents of about 150 men each.

The American divisions here are the 1st and 3rd Marine divisions, the 1st, 4th and 25th Army Infantry divisions and the 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division.

The brigades, in addition to the newly arrived 199th, are the 196th Light Infantry, the 101st Airborne and the 173rd Airborne.

In addition there are numerous engineering, logistical and other supporting units.

Negro, 125, Files Suit

To Divorce N.Y. Wife

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) —Sylvester Magee, who began life as a slave and claims to have fought for the Union in the Civil War, has filed suit to divorce his wife on grounds she deserted him.

Court records in Forrest County showed Friday that Magee had sued for divorce, claiming that Marie Magee, who now lives in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., left him in 1953.

Magee said he still loves his wife and because of his health and age he needs her companionship but that she "steadfastly refuses to return to his bed and board."

Magee does not seek custody of the couple's 16-year-old daughter, Marie, who was born in 1950 when her father was 109.

Although exact proof is hard to come by, it's generally accepted that Magee was born in Carpet, N.C., May 29, 1841 and was sold to a Mississippi plantation owner at the age of 19.

Magee quietly celebrated his 125th birthday at his small Hattiesburg home in May while recuperating from a bout with pneumonia and treatment in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Jackson, Miss.

A year earlier, Magee had a massive, five-layer birthday cake with 124 candles and Gov. Paul B. Johnson, whose home is in Hattiesburg, had declared that day "Sylvester Magee Day."

Magee says he obtained his freedom after the fall of Vicksburg and serving with Union troops. He suffered two battle wounds.

When Magee had pneumonia in March, civil war buffs went to bat and got the VA hospital to admit him as a patient, although official records do not show him as a Union soldier.

Historian A. P. Andrews of Jackson convinced the hospital to accept Magee as a patient, which, in effect, meant the government agrees that the aged man was a Union trooper.

Andrews says the Union put slaves into the army and kept no records on them until President Lincoln found out about the procedure and ordered them released from service.

Magee signed up for medical benefits earlier this year.

Burglars Take $7,000 At Sterlington Sites

Burglars hit six Sterlington businesses sometime Thursday night for an estimated $7,000 worth of cash and merchandise, according to Ouachita Sheriff's deputies.

The figure was determined Friday morning when managers and owners of the burglarized concerns met to survey their individual losses.

Investigators Friday studied the entry methods used by the thief or thieves to break into Sterlington Auto Parts, Albrittons Pharmacy, A. T. Ward's Store, Western Auto

Price On Milk Raises Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Friday a prolonged dip in milk production apparently has come to an end under the influence of improved prices.

Milk production in November was estimated at 9.1 billion pounds, about the same as a year earlier for the second consecutive month.

For the first 11 months of this year, milk production totaled about 3 per cent less than the year earlier.

PARTY PREPARATIONS keep members of the Ouachita Parish Red Cross busy filling gift sacks for veterans at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, Alexandria. The VA hospital annual Christmas party will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday, and each veteran will receive one of the gift packages here being prepared by Red Cross workers Mrs. Bennie Bowles (left), and Mrs.

Glenn Bowden and Mrs. A. J. Spears. Area individuals and organizations have contributed gifts of fruit, pecans, candy and similar items. The annual Christmas party for veterans has been under the supervision of Mrs. Tony Veazey and Dr. James Padgett, chairman of the Ouachita Parish Red Cross. (Staff photo by Mike Windham)

State Board Of Education Picks Head

BATON ROUGE (AP) — J. Marshall Brown of New Orleans was elected president Friday of the State Board of Education for next year.

V. J. Scogin of Slidell was named vice president.

Brown stepped up from vice president to succeed Enoch Nix, Bossier City, as president. Brown and Scogin will take office Jan. 1.

The 11-member education board held committee meetings Friday, and scheduled a full board meeting Saturday.

Business to be taken up at that time includes a proposed policy change to allow students failing in their first semester at state colleges and universities under the board to return for a second semester on probation.

Paying fines to the court for reckless driving were: Charles E. Cascio, 25, of 303 Texas Ave., $25; Thomas Bracey, 20, of 1201 N. 7th St., West Monroe, $20 and Connie McCowen, 25, of Virginia, $25.

Lolobrigida Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Gina Lolobrigida left Beth Israel Hospital on Friday after a two-day stay for treatment of an intestinal attack.

Leaving, the actress blamed the illness on an unwashed apple eaten in Mexico.

Doctors diagnosed the attack as acute inflammation of the lower intestine.

The screen star was stricken while at a party Wednesday morning.
